Japs Establish Effectual Blockade at Kaio Chow and Shell a Small Island—Troops of Mikado Have Not Landed, According to Report.

By Associated Press.

London, August 27.—A dispatch received here from Ostend says the Germans have occupied Lille, Roubaix and Valenciennes, all in France, near the Belgian border.

Tests made at various points along the German army's line of communication, says an Ostend correspondent of the Daily News, show it is surprisingly weak. The Germans seem to have gone forward with the idea that they had nothing more to fear from the Belgian army. "If the allies can hold their own at the front," says the correspondent, "it is certain that German communication, with their base, can be cut at any moment. In fact, their army seems to be up in the air. It has no support and everything has been chanced on a victory for the advancing army which is traveling fast, carrying its own supplies and supplementing them with levies on the surrounding country."

London, August 27.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons today that Field Marshall Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary force, had reported that he was yesterday engaged against superior German forces. The British troops fought splendidly and General French considered the prospects in the impending battle satisfactory.

London, August 27.—A Times dispatch from Rome declares that great pressure is being brought to bear on Italy by Germany and Austria to join in the war, both countries making her alluring promises, but without effect. The Italian people are against Austria, says the dispatch and any decision by the government to join in the conflict by the side of Germany and Austria would mean a revolution.

London, August 27.—It is officially announced, says the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co., that the Russian advance is proceeding into Prussia with irresistible force. The Germans have retreated to Osterode, a town of East Prussia, 100 miles west of Gumbinnen.

JAPS BLOCKADE KIAO CHOW

By Associated Press.

Tsing Tau, August 27.—Vice Admiral Sadakichi Kato, from his flagship, the battleship Suwo, sent a wireless message this morning declaring a blockade of the leased territory of Kiao Chow. Later the Japanese warships appeared outside the harbor and shelled a small island off the coast which was not occupied by the Germans. The German's governor notified Willis R. Peck, American consul at Kiao Chow that he had 24 hours to leave if he so desired. Mr. Peck, however, elected to remain.

Vice Admiral Kato said he would grant neutral shipping 24 hours in which to leave the harbor and the same period for non-combatants to leave the town.

JAPS HAVE NOT LANDED

Tsing Tau, August 27.—Bulletin.—There is no evidence here today of the landing of Japanese troops in the Kiao Chow territory. It is believed that the heavy rains of Kiao Chow, after the summer rains, will deter any Japanese attack for many days.

RUSSIANS WINNING, BUT FEAR POISON

By Associated Press.

St. Petersburg, August 27.—A Russian army order prohibits the use of food and forage abandoned by the Germans in East Prussia because of cases of poisoning which have occurred. According to all accounts the Germans were taken by surprise at the rapidity of the Russian cavalry movements and the dash through the Mazur lake district where five lines of defense were flanked.

After the capture of Gumbinnen and Insterburg, the line which was strongest, the Angersburg line was taken without fighting.

BIG LINER IS SUNKEN

London, August 27.—Bulletin.—The Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse has been sunk off the west coast of Africa by the British cruiser, High Flyer.

The Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse was one of the palatial steamers of the North-German Lloyd line. At the outbreak of the war she was converted into an armored cruiser and since has been reported active in searching for British merchant men. She has a tonnage of 14,349 and was built in 1897. She was 626 feet long. It was on this vessel that the late Mayor Gaynor of New York was shot as he was about to sail for Europe.

Berlin, via wire to the Associated Press to Nauen, Germany and Sayville, L. I., August 27.—All of the forts at Namur have fallen and Longwy, near the Luxembourg border has been captured after a resolute defense. The French forces, which attacked the German Crown Prince's army, have been repulsed. Upper Alsace is free of the enemy, except at points to the west of Kolmar.

By Associated Press.

London, August 27.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Ostend credits a Belgian officer with the statement that the forts at Namur are still holding out, with the exception of two which were destroyed by the bombardment. The Belgians fought for two days, this officer says, and there is still a large force of Germans before Namur.

BADLY INJURED BY SCREEN DOOR HOOK

Raymond Robinett, of the English addition, is suffering from an ugly wound received Tuesday night while he was in the act of rushing out of the Baker grocery on North North street, while playing with some companions.

Robinett, who is about 18 years of age, and an employee of the shoe factory, had started to rush from the store when the screen door closed in such a way that the protruding hook on the door caught him in the eye, tearing the lid almost out and nearly destroying the sight.

The hook penetrated deeply into the eye socket, and inflicted a wound which may yet destroy the sight of the eye.

Blood poured from the wound in a steady stream, and physicians were hurriedly summoned and the young man removed to the Fayette hospital where it required many stitches to close the gaping wound.

The patient is still suffering intensely from the wound, and it will probably be two or three weeks before he will be able to use the eye again, if the sight is not destroyed.

The bill can be drawn quickly and is expected to follow immediately a message from President Wilson asking for such legislation.

RUSSIANS ADVANCE IN PRUSSIA

Vienna Reports an Austrian Victory Over Czar's Troops in a Three Days' Battle in Russian Poland. Kaiser Announces Annexation of Belgium as a German Province. Japanese Squadron Expected in the Adriatic.

London, Aug. 27.—French, British and Belgian troops rallied to strike decisive blows against the Kaiser's armies. The main French attack was at Luneville, France, where the Germans were entrenched. French and Belgian troops joined in the assault on the advance lines at Mabeuge, Belgium's army, rallying from Antwerp, with King Albert at its head, defeated 60,000 Germans at Palvorde, where the Kaiser's troops had retreated when driven out of Mabeuge.

The French war office has issued a statement saying that the allies' lines in the north, have been moved back a short distance and that in a general way the French and British offensive between Nancy and the Vosges is making progress. The French right has, however, been obliged to withdraw slightly in the neighborhood of St. Die.

St. Die is in the department of the Vosges, northeast of Epinal, one of the great French frontier fortresses. This region is the farthest from Paris of any of the five lines of concentric advance proclaimed by the Germans, and hence a check there is not deemed by the allies as of equal importance with a defeat in the north, where the distance between the frontier and the capital is shortest.

Russian troops advanced rapidly toward Posen, German Poland, in carrying out the czar's scheme of seizing all Polish territory preparatory to uniting all Poland under his flag.

In eastern Galicia the Russians appear to have driven back the Austrian troops at several points. # FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS

Paris, Aug. 27.—The French ministry, headed by Premier Rene Viviani, resigned. Another cabinet was immediately formed.

Viviani visited Elysee palace and informed President Poincare that the members of the cabinet had decided to resign collectively. He said that he and his colleagues had come to the decision that in the circumstance through which the country was passing the ministry should have a wider scope and comprise all the men in all the Republican groups. President Poincare charged Viviani with the task of organizing a new cabinet and the premier accepted. He returned to the Elysee about an hour later and made known to the president the composition of the new ministry. Viviani remains president of the council and Theophile Delcasse is retained as minister of foreign affairs.

The advancement of younger generals to high commands is now certain.

ACCIDENTS ON THE WATER.

How a Pot or Pan or Even a Hat May Be Used as a Life Preserver.

The worst thing to do in an accident on the water is to flounder around and shriek and cry. That expels the air from the lungs, and then the body will quickly sink. With this fact understood we may experiment with a number of things to show how little it takes to support the body. The high silk hat of man contains sufficient air to keep him from sinking if he grasps it by the rim and holds it upright so that the air is imprisoned under the hat. Even a derby hat will support a half grown boy or girl if held right.

Disbans and buckets or tin pails can also be used as life preservers. Invert these in the water and grasp the rim with both hands and do not tip them so the air can escape. Not long ago a party of girls out rowing had their boat upset in a mountain lake. All of them except one could swim. This girl had an umbrella with her, raised to ward off the sun's rays when the accident occurred. Finding herself in the water some distance from the boat, she grabbed for the nearest thing in reach. It proved to be her umbrella, floating with the handle down in the water. She threw both arms frantically around the open umbrella. To her surprise and to that of her comrades, she did not sink. The imprisoned air under the umbrella supported her head above the water until help arrived.

The small amount of air contained in a bicycle tire will keep one's head above water for hours. Even if one is a fair swimmer, the day may come when a knowledge of some of these every day life preservers will prove of the greatest value. If thrown in the water a long distance from shore you may be able to float and swim with such an aid three times as far as you could without them. —George E. Walsh in Leslie's.

Her Seven Sons.

A mother who had only one child, a son, lost him through an accident by drowning when he was seventeen. His body was washed out to sea and never recovered. She very much wanted a portrait of him, and she called a famous artist who was a friend of the family. He asked for every photograph she had of her son from babyhood onward. When the painting arrived it represented a glade in a wood. Playing about were five little children of various ages, but all the same boy as his mother had known him. Coming down the center, joyous, gay, was the seventeen-year-old lad leading his baby self of one year by the hand. The mother looked at the picture and burst into tears. "I have lost seven sons!" she said.

"You had lost six of them before your son died," the artist replied.

Law Lord in a Cell.

Lord Russell once gave a lecture on his imprisonment in Holloway jail. The thing that impressed him most strangely during the early period of his confinement was being without his pipe and watch. He was perpetually feeling in his pocket to see the time or for matches or tobacco. He soon got over the want of smoking and after six weeks obtained leave to wear his watch, the absence of which worried him more than having no tobacco pouch. When he went into prison the governor asked his religion, and he replied, "Agnostic." This answer seemed to puzzle the official, who said he supposed it was Protestant, not Catholic. And as "Prot." Lord Russell was entered on the card outside his cell.

Paris, Aug. 27.—The fierce nature of the fighting on the Franco-Belgian frontier may be estimated by the fact that Charleroi was taken and retaken seven times. Luneville, near the Alsatian border, has been retaken for the third time, and it is believed that it is again in the hands of the French.

We Do It on the Fourth.

It is curious that the Fourth of July has become the American day of celebration, since it was on July 2 that congress passed the really important motion for independence, and the Fourth only saw the adoption of the Declaration. John Adams wrote to his wife: "The 2d day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other from this time forward for evermore." But they do it on the Fourth.—London Chronicle.

Fighting Men

It takes intelligent men to make the best soldiers. The rank and file of the troops must be men of good brain as well as the commanders: if an army is of the highest efficiency. High culture is not required, but real brain power must be there. An ignorant man is likely to be a cowardly one. There was formerly a prevailing opinion that physical prowess and mental power were two forces that were entirely distinct. That may be true where only a certain amount of pure brute force is required, like lifting a barrel of sugar or striking a heavy predetermined blow. But when you place men face to face in a contest where brain is against brain and bodily strength against bodily strength, the victory is likely to incline to the preponderance of brain.

Relative intelligence distinguishes man from beasts, and has given him dominion over them. We have seen men on the football field who could lift almost incredible weight and were fairly agile, who failed simply because they lacked sufficient concentration to coordinate their efforts with the team play at the crucial moment. In the great national sport of baseball, how many men fail from lack of sagacity, rather than from insufficient strength and agility. We heard it said of a pitcher once that he had a ten thousand dollar arm and a five cent head. It takes quick thinking in baseball, and the man who hasn't a good think tank cannot go very far in the game. He must not only be able to know what play to make in every crisis without hesitation, but he must be deep enough judge of human nature to place him in sympathy with every one of his team associates.

How much more is quickness of intellect necessary in the common soldier. There the game is played for life or death. How much opportunity for quick wit in the charge, the retreat, the cover, the hand to hand fight. Brawn and weapons being equal, superior brains in the common soldier will be almost uniformly victorious. The phalanx of Alexander the Great derived its chief strength from the intelligence in the ranks. No better soldiers ever took up arms than those of both North and South in our own Civil war. Some of the ablest men of our country were carrying muskets.

The success thus far of the Germans is perhaps due in large measure to the fact that her ranks are filled with her very best middle class citizens.

Servians Use Assassination as Means to Effect Purpose of Government

By Dr. CHARLES WINTER, Acting Consul General of Austria-Hungary in New York

IN Servia assassination for political reasons is more or less used as a political means of effecting the government's purpose. The WHOLE CIVILIZED WORLD WAS SCANDALIZED at the time of the assassination of King Alexander and his wife, Queen Draga.

WAS IT AN ANARCHIST WHO COMMITTED THAT TERRIBLE DEED? NO. THEY WERE OFFICERS OF THE SERBIAN ARMY. AND HAVE THEY EVER BEEN PUNISHED? NO. THEY NEVER HAVE BEEN CALLED TO ACCOUNT FOR THEIR CRIME, AND THEY ARE STILL HOLDING HIGH POSITIONS IN THE SERBIAN ARMY. THERE EXISTS A STRONG CURRENT OF OPINION THAT AUSTRIA-HUNGARY SHOULD LEAVE IT TO THE SERBIAN GOVERNMENT TO PUNISH THE INSTIGATORS OF THE MURDER OF THE ARCHDUKE FRANCIS FERDINAND AND HIS CONSORT. DOES IT NOT SOUND LIKE IRONY?

Was perhaps the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga the only political murder in the modern history of Servia? No. In the year 1868 the Serbian Prince Michael was also the victim of political and not anarchistic plot. And King Milan died a natural death only because he fled in time to Austrian territory.

WITH AN ENEMY THAT HAS SUCH A STANDARD OF POLITICAL MORALS ONLY THE SWORD CAN SPEAK THE RIGHT LANGUAGE.

A Red Spider Gone Wrong.
The chigger is really an embryo that never got out of the chrysalis stage. He started out to be a red spider and stopped at becoming a pest. His papa and mamma are red spiders, about the size of a pinhead and bright red. They inhabit old stumps and logs in the woods and feed on vegetable diet. But their offspring are divided into two classes—the bloodthirsty and the non-bloodthirsty. The non-bloodthirsty, like a well behaved child, heeds mother's advice and dines on grass and leaves and old woods. He grows up to a red spider. But the bloodthirsty little cuss hunts up a quadruped or a biped when he feels hungry and burrows. He has no control over his appetite.

says the entomologist, and gorges himself. Ergo, he dies. He is the chigger. He is so small that he can scarcely be seen by the naked eye. Of course he doesn't rear a family, in consequence. But his nonbloodthirsty brothers and sisters will reach years of maturity and acquire offspring. And among their children will be chiggers. So the race is kept up.—Kansas City Star

Poetry For Today

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN; ITS YOU.
If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll find what you want left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new
It's a knock at yourself when you
Knock your town.
It isn't your town—it's you!

Real towns are not made by men
afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead,
When every one works and nobody
shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor can make one too.
Your town will be what you want to see,
It isn't your town—it's you.

Music of Our Indians.

The music of our Indians is solely and simply vocal. It seems to be generally agreed by musical authorities that the Indians' songs have in them nothing borrowed from instruments, nothing of artificial instigation. An Indian melody never served two sets of words. There is no instance, it appears, where the people have followed our custom of singing the different stanzas of a ballad to the same air. A large proportion of Indian songs are entirely without words at all, syllables being employed to carry the tones. Perhaps the most striking peculiarity of Indian music is the lack of definite pitch, for there is no such thing as standard pitch among the musicians of the red men. The Indian begins his song where the natural quality of his voice and his mood at the time render it easiest for him to sing it. The pitch of the song depends upon the individual.—Philadelphia Record.

Old Nick and Nickel.

Nickel was first discovered by Cronstedt in 1751. No use was made of it, as it was found only in small amounts. For a great many years the German miners called it kupfernickel, or devil's copper. It was believed by those simple folk that Old Nick, or the devil, made this ore purposely to bother the miners, as it looked exactly like copper ore and yet no copper could be extracted from it. Nickel was scarce until a New York assayer found a quantity of it in a shipment of ore from Canada. He stated its value in his report, and the owner of the mine prospected for more and found large quantities of it. Nickel is hard, ductile and malleable. It is white in color, with a yellowish cast. It ranks next to iron and cobalt in magnetic properties and is extensively used for plating purposes, because it will take a high polish and will not rust. Nickel added to steel makes it harder and stronger.—New York World.

FRANCIS JOSEPH FIGURE AMONG

Aged Monarch Harried by Grim Misfortune From His Boyhood.

IT has fallen to the lot of few men to bear such a series of misfortunes as those that came to Francis Joseph (Charles) I., emperor of Austria, whose eighty-fourth birthday occurred Aug. 18. The reign of the oldest monarch in the world was one of woe and disaster. His most recent and most personal grief was caused by Gavrio Princip, the Serbian anarchist, whose bullets ended the life of the heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenburg. But before this happened he had earned the title of the Sorrowful Emperor.

Waiving the question of right or wrong in declaring war on Servia, as the direct result of the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, the fact stands out that it was this act which plunged all of Europe into a bloody conflict, a conflict aptly described by the British government in its call for men to enlist under the Union Jack as the greatest war in the history of the world.

From the day when as a boy of eighteen he was ordered by the family council to dethrone his uncle, since otherwise all hope for the house of Hapsburg was lost, Francis Joseph never knew a happy day. He has remained upon the throne of his country for over sixty-six years, the saddest monarch of his age.

Curse Over Family.

A curse, uttered with all the hatred and vindictiveness of a woman whose heart was torn with grief, hangs over the house of Hapsburg. Since this curse upon the emperor and his family was made in 1848 by the Countess Karolyi, the house of Hapsburg has known more grief than any other royal family of Europe.

Following the execution of her son for his activity in the Hungarian uprising, Countess Karolyi sought an audience with the emperor. Once in his presence she denounced him in the most scathing terms; she prayed that his life be stripped of happiness, that misery and suffering come to those dearest to him, and that he be crushed to the earth in despair. The woman left his presence with the declaration that her prayers would be answered and the death of her son avenged.

A political cataclysm set Francis Joseph on his throne as a boy and loaded him with responsibilities and griefs such as only the strong can bear.

Francis Joseph had hardly reached the throne when he was forced to lead his soldiers against his own people in the quelling of a bloody revolution. These events had hardly passed well into recollection when his natural ally made war on him, reduced him to humiliating peace and took a slice of his provinces.

Brother Executed in Mexico.

Francis Joseph was duped into permitting his brother to become the tool of Napoleon III. In a wild scheme to establish a Franco-Austrian monarchy in Mexico, The unhappy Empress Carlotta went insane begging Napoleon to aid her defeated husband, and Maximilian himself was shot to death with his generals, making a final tragic plea that they shoot low, so his mother might look upon his dead face unmurdered.

Francis Joseph's Italian provinces revolted and joined the Italian kingdom. Every few years there have been fresh outbreaks in his own country. Time and again European wars threatened to engulf him and his kingdom, and he faced the possibility that his death would mean the dissolution of his remnant of the great German-Roman empire, which one day ruled the world.

But to all these public disasters was added a list of private or personal griefs such as few men—high or low—have ever been made to bear.

Perhaps the greatest of these tragedies and the one that bore most heavily on the old monarch, was the mysterious death of his only son, the Crown Prince Rudolf, at Meyerling.

Rudolf was twenty-three years old when he married in 1881 Princess Stephanie, daughter of the king of the Belgians. The princess was sixteen. The crown prince married her for state reasons, and they became known as "the most unhappy royal couple in Europe."

The crown prince was invited to a reception at the home of a cousin, the Countess Larisch. That was in the fall of 1887. There the countess introduced him to a beautiful young woman, the Baroness Vetsera, nineteen years old.

The crown prince lost his head and heart. He went to his father, the emperor, and announced that he intended to divorce Stephanie and marry the young baroness, offering to renounce all claims to the throne. The emperor forbade it. Rudolf applied to the pope for permission to annul his marriage to Stephanie, but again was rebuffed.

Several months later, through the pleadings of his family, the crown prince agreed to be reconciled to Stephanie, and a state reception was planned in honor of their reunion.

The Baroness Vetsera heard of this on the morning of the day for which the reception was planned. She went to the palace and, forcing her way past the palace guards, gained access to the crown prince's room. There she flung herself at his feet, begging him not to desert her.

A Fatal Farewell.

Rudolf's love for the baroness was revived, and he agreed to meet her that night in a hunting chateau near by for a last farewell. When the royal family and guests assembled for the state dinner the crown prince could not be found. After a wait of several hours word came that the bodies of Rudolf and the Baroness Vetsera had been found in a room in the chateau.

For many years the affair was shrouded in mystery. Only recently Countess Larisch tore away the veil in her book entitled "My Past." Her conclusion was that the lovers agreed to die together, Rudolf slaying the baroness and then himself.

The widowed Stephanie fell in love with and married Count Elmer Lonyay, a young nobleman. The crown princess lost her royal rank in Austria and her native country through the marriage.

Next in order the Archduke Johann Salvatore fell in love with Milli Stubel, a Viennese dancer, and was refused the right to marry her.

Finally, after a stormy interview with the emperor, the archduke wrote a terrific brochure against the Austrian army, resigned all his rank, took the name of John Orth and departed from Austria. In February, 1890, he met Milli Stubel in London, where they were married. They set sail on the ship St. Margarita for South America. The vessel was wrecked, and nothing authoritative has been heard of Salvatore since.

Every few years stories have cropped out purporting to reveal the whereabouts of the lost archduke.

Tragic Death of Wife.

As deep and long lived a grief as any borne by the emperor of sorrows came through his wife. At the outset it was a love match, and for many years the emperor and his consort were ideally happy. The private lives of both always were above reproach. But as years crept upon her the Empress Elizabeth began to show the eccentricities that have beset all her line.

Austria and its emperor became distasteful to her; there were long absences, domestic scenes and gossip. Finally Elizabeth decided to make her own home and court. At an expense of $600,000 she built on the beautiful island of Corfu, in the Mediterranean, the remarkable castle of Achilleion. Beyond this sum she spent on the grounds and furnishings as much more.

The empress spent her winters, her autumns and springs at Corfu. The rest of her time she traveled. She had come from Corfu only a short time, and one day was walking in the sun on the quay at Geneva with an attendant. She was making her way along to a little boat that was to carry her to Montreux when a man darted out of a bevy, walked a moment near the empress and then stabbed her through the body with a stiletto.

She fell in a trickle of her blood. The man ran and for the time made his escape. They carried her aboard the boat, and there she died within half an hour, thrust through a vital spot with the dagger, which had been fashioned from a small die. Within a few hours an Italian anarchist, Luigi Luceni, had been captured and confessed his crime.

Own Life Thrice Menaced.

Thrice was the life of the emperor himself attempted. In 1853 at a review in Vienna a Hungarian named Joseph Libenyi tried to cut the emperor's throat before all his troops. Francis Joseph suffered a slight wound. The man was caught on the spot. On the next day he was hanged.

In 1896 when the emperor was leaving a theater at Prague a man in the crowd tried to kill him with a pistol. Rescue came from an odd source. A British steamship engineer who chanced to be in Prague and near by subdued the assassin.

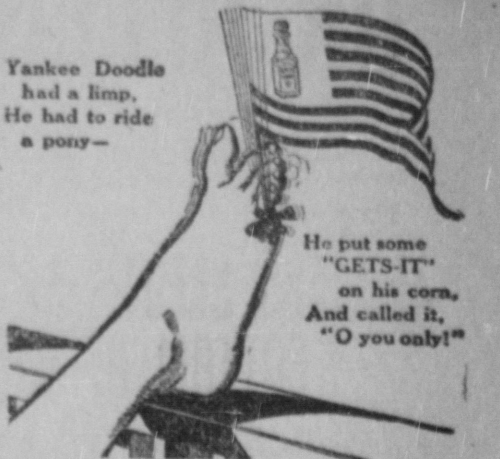

Trieste was the scene of the third attempt in 1882. Bombs were placed, but failed to do their work. The chief conspirator, Overdank, was executed.

The venerable monarch bore many titles. The "sorrowful emperor" was one, justified by the three appalling tragedies of brother, son and wife—the brother shot in Mexico, the son slain in the mysterious tragedy of Meyerling and the wife butchered by an assassin in the year of his golden jubilee. The "reform emperor" they called him when in 1867 the idea of a centralized Austrian empire gave way to that of a dual Austro-Hungarian monarchy, consisting of an indissoluble federation of two equal states under a single sovereign, each having a constitution, government and representative parliament of its own.

The "peace monarch" he was called in reference to the function of his realm as the balance wheel of the European diplomatic machine, until the present war.

"Gets-It" for Corns Sure as Sunrise

New Plan. Corns Shriveled, Vanish. Until "GETS-IT" was born nobody was ever sure of getting rid of a corn. Corn treatments nearly all contained the same ingredients, only some were liquid, some plasters, some

"wrappers" and some in saline form. Now comes "GETS-IT" with a newly discovered formula—the corn cure on a new principle and a simple plan that never fails. This is why "GETS-IT" has grown in three years to be the biggest-selling corn cure the world has ever known. There's no more need of fussing with corns, no more digging or cutting. There's nothing to press down on the corn, nothing to inflame the flesh, to "pull" the corn or cause pain. Put two drops of "GETS-IT" on in two seconds. That's all. For any corn, callus, wart or bunion. "GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. "GETS-IT" is sold in Washington C. H. by Brown's Drug Store.

ANOTHER RAID MADE ON ALLEGED 'LEGGERS'

Five Arrests Take Place and More Expected to Follow Within a Short Time.

AMATEUR SLEUTH AT BOTTOM OF WORK

List of Arrests Includes Several Well Known Colored Men—"Keeping a Place" May Be Among Other Charges Reprising in Pigeon Holes in Mayor's Desk—Trials Come Up Within Few Days.

Mayor Coffey and Chief Moore sprung another sensation, Wednesday evening and Thursday morning, when a number of arrests of alleged bootleggers took place, and more arrests are expected to follow at any time. Meanwhile quite a few persons are said to be trembling in their shoes, fearing that the "lightning" may strike in their direction at any moment.

Those arrested up to Thursday noon are: George Scott, colored; Tobias Peoples, colored; Charles Bryant, colored; Joe Barker, white; Joe Tapsico, colored. Other affidavits are known to be stored away in pigeon holes in Mayor Coffey's desk, and may be brought into use at any time.

The arrests are the result of ten days or two weeks clever work on the part of L. R. Rowe, a local man, who claims to have found it easy work to obtain a surprisingly large amount of bootleg whiskey from some of the parties who have been arrested, and against others who have not yet been apprehended.

Barker, Bryant, Scott and Peoples were arrested Wednesday evening, and Tapsico was apprehended Thursday morning.

When arraigned before Mayor Coffey each of the accused entered a plea of not guilty, and their trials will take place within the next few days. All, with the exception of Scott, raised the $200 bond and were released, while Scott was remanded to jail to await such a time as he could obtain the bond, or stand trial.

It is claimed that one man, obtaining a hint of what was about to take place, fled from the city, and has not returned. The police have made arrangements to apprehend the man and bring him back to face the music.

The main part of the "evidence" against those arrested is under lock and key at the Mayor's office, with each bottle labeled as to who sold it, when, and the amount paid.

The "evidence" is not confined to a half dozen bottles, nor to a dozen bottles, and it is claimed that several affidavits may be filed against some of the parties, in which "keeping a place" will be charged. If this is done, and conviction results, the property in which the sales were made becomes liable for the heavy duty tax.

Chief Moore states that before the cases are finished a few surprises may come to light. It is the opinion of the police that some of the charges will not be fought, owing to the fact that several similar charges may be placed against the accused.

According to Rowe, who filed the affidavits, and to Chief Moore, several purchases were made from some of those against whom affidavits have been filed.

Every time a sale was made, one or more of the police was not far distant, watching operations.

DIES ON HER EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

The funeral will be held Friday at 10 a. m., at the Christian church in New Holland. Burial in the New Holland cemetery.

BUYS FURNITURE ON TIME AND SELLS IT FOR CASH

Local Firm May Be Among the List of Victims of Smooth Stranger Who Sells $100 Worth of Furniture for $15, But Is Frightened Away Before Second Deal Is Completed.

An investigation is now on foot among C. R. Parish furniture men to establish the identity of a man who is alleged to have been purchasing furniture "on time" and disposing of it for cash at a fraction of the purchase price.

The game was tried in Chillicothe, and it is claimed that a similar game was worked on the local branch of the company, but a hurried investigation has not yet disclosed any attempt at trickery on the part of a customer.

The story is told by The Chillicothe News, of Wednesday, as follows:

"The local C. R. Parish Co. store came very near losing $84.50 worth of its goods on Tuesday, says its manager, through the actions of a customer who, it is said, has now disappeared and whose actions were queer

ONE WORD MADE A DIFFERENCE

North Street Property Owners Up In Arms Until They Discover That Mistake Was Made and That City Pays One-Third of Improvement Cost—Necessary to Republish Ordinance.

It was only one small word, but it made all the difference in the world with North North street property owners, and has resulted in its becoming necessary to delay action on the North street improvement and a second publication of the resolution to pave the street.

The original resolution provided that one-fiftieth of the cost be borne by the city, and the remainder by the property owners.

When council changed its attitude toward assessing 90 per cent of the cost against the property owner, and amended the resolution so that the city was bound to pay 1-3 of the cost, the "one-third" was overlooked and the resolution was published with the provision that the city pay "one-fiftieth".

When the notices were served on the property owners, and it was found that the notices did not contain the proviso that the city would bear one-third the expense, but "one-fiftieth", a storm of protest went up, and some of the property owners immediately concluded that council had "put one over" on them, and an investigation was started, which resulted in the mistake being discovered and provision made to rectify it and republish the resolution so that as little delay as possible result.

to say the least. The customer called at the store on Monday and gave the name of Henry Ross.

"He was waited on by George Reed, the store's manager and picked out a bill of goods amounting to $84.50. He paid $2.50 down and made arrangements to pay $4.00 every two weeks for the rest of the goods. Later a drayman informed Font Bee, a clerk at the Parish store that the man was trying to sell the goods in the East End.

"It was said that he was showing a list of the goods to two East End dealers. Bee found the man and asked him what he was doing. He told him that he was just comparing the prices to see whether or not he had been beat. Bee immediately took possession of the firm's goods and the man left for parts unknown.

"Reed stated that Ross had had some furniture shipped in over the C. H. & D. and that the name on the shipping tag was 'T. Taulkner.' He is alleged to have sold $100 worth of these goods for $15. Reed will investigate this matter with the Washington C. H. Parish store as he said the goods looked as if they came from there.

"The man had ordered the $84.50 worth of goods purchased on Monday to be sent to a house on North Sugar street that he had rented that day. Later he is alleged to have told East End dealers that his reason for wanting to sell the furniture was because his wife had deserted him.

"He told them that when he arrived at his newly-rented home his wife had departed taking $80 belonging to him with her and nothing was there but the furniture. It is now claimed that there was no woman with the man."

MRS. FLETCHER DIES SUDDENLY

Mother of Triplets Passes Away While Asleep at Home on Mayor Coffey's Farm—Death was Due to Heart Trouble—Funeral Saturday.

News of the death of Mrs. S. M. Fletcher, mother of the triplets, reached this city at an early hour Thursday morning, and came as a great shock and sorrow to the many relatives and friends of the deceased.

Mrs. Fletcher died suddenly, and while asleep. Her death was discovered about one o'clock Thursday morning, and she had retired two hours previous to that time, apparently in her usual health.

During Wednesday evening, Mrs. Fletcher had laughed and joked with other members of the family and friends who were visiting at the

Fletcher home, and retired at eleven o'clock.

At one o'clock, Mr. Fletcher awoke, and not hearing his wife breathing, sought to ascertain if she was ill. She did not arouse when he tried to awake her, and a moment later he discovered that his wife was dead, and had apparently been dead for more than one hour. He immediately aroused those at the Fletcher home, and a physician was summoned. Death was evidently due to heart trouble.

Since the birth of the two daughters and son, on June 6th, Mrs. Fletcher has been ill, and spent several days in the Fayette hospital, where she received special treatment. She left the hospital a week or ten days ago, and since that time had apparently been improved.

Funeral services will be held at the Cemetery chapel, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, and burial will be made in the Washington cemetery.

Besides the sorrowing husband, and the three infants, Mrs. Fletcher leaves a 10-year-old son, and many other relatives.

MRS. FRANK SMITH DIES IN KENTON

Washington friends have learned with regret that Mrs. Frank Smith failed to rally after a serious operation at the Antonio hospital, Kenton, O., and died Tuesday evening.

Mr. Smith accompanied by Undertaker McCoy, brought his wife's remains home Wednesday evening on the 6 o'clock train, and took them to the residence on E. Paint street.

Relatives from Wilmington were here to meet the train last night.

A short service was held at the residence at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the remains taken to the home of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Cartwright in Wilmington on the 3:30 train.

The funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Cartwright Friday afternoon and the interment will be made in the Wilmington cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MR. WM. HAMMER

Among the beautiful flowers sent from many friends, were special designs from the Masonic order, the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the Philadelphia club of Cleveland.

Acting as pall-bearers were: Dr. G. W. Blakeley, Messrs. R. S. Quinn, E. J. Light, W. E. Dale, Wilson Bachert, Grant Coffman.

Among the relatives and friends here from a distance were the daughter, Miss Georgia, of Detroit, Mich.; sons, Howard Hammer and wife, of Dayton; Mr. Otis Hammer, of Chicago; Mr. Raymond Hammer, of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hammer, son, Mrs. Maggie Fields, Dayton; Mr. Barnes Troy; Mrs. Ed Whelpley, Mr. Otis Dundon, Columbus.

SELLS MILLINERY STORE HEADS NEW DEPARTMENT

Miss Lulu Theobald, well known milliner who for several years has conducted a millinery store in the Judy block on Main street, has disposed of her millinery business and has arranged to take charge of a new millinery department to be opened by Craig Bros.

For several days Miss Theobald has been in the large millinery centers, purchasing fall stock, and is expected home this evening, and will open the new department at Craig Bros. store Friday morning.

Part of the new floor space on the second floor has been furnished for a millinery department, and Miss Theobald will have a number of skilled assistants to aid her in the work.

So far as known the storeroom vacated by Miss Theobald has not yet been rented.

TAKING MOVIES OF FOURTH BOYS

During the maneuvers of the Fourth regiment, among the hills of Ross county, a moving picture camera will be stationed at the most strategic point to bombard the men in their heroic efforts to storm intrenchments or repel attack.

The movies will later be shown in all of the cities sending companies of O. N. G. to take part in the annual camp at Maple Grove.

ATHLETICS TO MEET THEIR MATCH SUNDAY

Dayton Maxwells, Victors Over the Tippecanoe City club, Which Scored a Victory Here Sunday—One of the Fastest Semi-Professional Teams in the State.

In what is generally doped to be the best game of the year the Athletics Sunday will contest for honors with the Dayton Maxwells, the record of whom is familiar to many local fans. The Maxwells are recognized as one of the fastest semi-pro teams in Ohio and their victory over the Tippecanoe City bunch, which defeated Washington, is some testimonial of their speed.

In a letter to Manager Noon the manager of the Maxwells, Mr. William Myers, says: 'Our team has been going great the past few weeks and we expect to return from Washington winners. We are leading the Saturday Afternoon league here with a standing of .750, which you can see by any of the Dayton papers. Five of our present players have played professional ball and the balance are fast semi-pro players.'

Mr. Myers speaks effusively of his star pitcher, Smith, who will be used in the box here. Smith pitched against Newcastle, Ind., last week to a 2 to 0 victory. Manager Myers contends that the Newcastle team had loaded up with Indianapolis Federal leaguers at that.

The Dayton line-up follows: Berg, c; Smith, Flanagan, p; Powell, 1b; Gard, 2b; Shrim, ss; Bartel, 3b; O'Hearn, rf; T. Smith, cf; Yumarishro, lf.

Yumarishro, the clever little Jap outfielder, played here before, this season, and the fans know that he, at least, is the goods.

USES MAYOR'S NAME TO THREATENING NOTE

A couple of residents of John street appeared before Mayor Coffey Thursday shortly after noon, and showed him a letter which bore his forged signature.

The letter was to the effect that a fine of $50 and cost would be assessed unless a certain dog was killed.

Mayor Coffey assured the parties that he had never written such a letter, and he is now at work in an effort to ferret out the party who forged his signature to the letter.

THREE GOOD REASONS.

The question arises, why is the success of Billy S. Clifford in the clever musical satire 'Believe Me.' Several good reasons might be given, in fact myriad numbers of them, but the consideration of a few of the most essential will do here. First—Care has been exercised to get a bill that will make an instantaneous impression upon the people before whom it is presented. There is nothing at all in the bill of 'Believe Me' lacking to make it complete in every detail. The story is pretty, carefully worked out, the climaxes are right to the point and cleverly worked up to. The comedy well defined and pure, the song numbers are up to the minute. Second—Choice of a lead was carefully considered and no better one could be secured than Billy S. Clifford, who handles the title role. Clever to the extreme as a comedian. Third—In selecting a supporting company to a most capable lead, only the very best talent possible was to be secured and one only needs to see the show to realize that such is the case. Each member back of Mr. Clifford has been especially selected for some one peculiar qualification necessary, when combined with the balance of the company, to make one complete whole strong in the presentation of the production. Here are three good reasons why this company is having such unprecedented success in their latest creation. They will be seen at The Empire on Tuesday, September 1.

Final Draft Receives Unanimous Approval.

PROHIBITION PROVED PROBLEM

Minority Report, Threatened by the Dries, Not Presented to the Convention—Several Planks Strongly Declaratory on National and State Issues—Woman Suffrage Not Passed Upon—Other Features.

Columbus, Aug. 27.—With the approval of the final draft of the state platform, the Republican state convention finished its business in short order. Strongly declaratory on national issues, and on state issues with the exception of woman suffrage, which it ignored, and prohibition, the platform's adoption was not opposed by a single voice in the convention. A minority report on the temperance plank which the dries had threatened to make was not presented. Formal approval of the temperance plank was given by the dual heads of the ticket, Warren G. Harding, nominee for United States senator, and Frank B. Willis, nominee for governor.

Speaking for the management of the Anti-Saloon league, Wayne B. Wheeler said the law enforcement declaration of the temperance plank was satisfactory. The platform in full follows:

Stand For Protection.

We, the Republican party of Ohio, in convention assembled, hereby promulgate the following platform:

We reaffirm our adherence to the great principles of the Republicanism which has made the history of the party glorious for more than half a century. We rejoice in the great achievements of our party, which have brought progress and prosperity to our people.

Following step by step the changed conditions of the years, the Republican party goes forward with renewed faith in the people, in its purpose to serve them today with the same sincerity and fidelity that marked the noble work of Abraham Lincoln.

On behalf of the Republicans of Ohio this convention extends to the president of the United States sincere sympathy on account of the service and bereavement which have recently fallen upon his household.

We affirm our adherence to the principle of protection to American industries; for the investment of American capital, and in the employment of American labor at the American standard of wages.

We denounce the Underwood tariff act as a law in the interest of the foreign rather than the American producer. We denounce the legislation which has turned the balance of trade against us and is draining our country of its gold.

The fallacy of the Democratic claim that protection is the cause of the failure of the Underwood act to reduce it.

We favor such legislation by the national congress as will provide an adequate merchant marine for the extension of our trade to all parts of the world in times of peace, and will enable us, in times of war, to provide ample transportation of products of neutral countries, especially those of the western continent.

The Republican party, recognizing the debt the country owes to the volunteer soldiers, declares its opposition to the recent policy of the national administration to drop from the government service the veterans of the Civil War.

We urge congress to make liberal and regular appropriations to complete the improvement of the Ohio river.

Attack State Administration.

The Republicans of Ohio condemn the present state executive for his assumption of autocratic powers; for his usurpation of the legislative functions; for having used his official prerogatives to create a gigantic machine; for his creation of many useless offices and commissions; for his trifling with the civil service. We especially denounce his administration for its dangerous concentration of power in the hands of the governor and for its unprecedented extravagance and the added burdens placed upon local subdivisions.

We arraign the so-called Warnes law for its flagrant violation of the principle of self-government. We condemn the taxation policy of the Cox administration which seeks to increase revenue rather than to curb expenditures. We denounce the so-called Kilpatrick law for its destruction of the wise provisions of the Smith 1 per cent law.

We not only favor the workmen's compensation law, which we participated in enacting, but we favor the increase in the maximum amount to be paid for death and total disability under said law.

We deprecate the steadily increasing outlay for all public purposes with its corresponding increase in taxation. We pledge the Republican party to discourage unnecessary local expenditures and to restore an economical management of state offices by abolishing all unnecessary offices and commissions.

We favor laws for the moral protection and physical development of our women workers. We endorse the eight-hour system of daily labor wherever practicable. We approve the principle of one day's rest in seven for all labor.

We urge the enactment of laws conferring upon the supreme court jurisdiction to review the decisions of the secretary of state on primary, election and initiative and referendum questions.

We favor liberal appropriations to promote agriculture. We pledge the Republican party of Ohio to the appointment of farmers to all offices whose functions relate to the farm.

We recognize the wider claims of the people upon their government for legislation to promote social justice and pledge our co-operation in the broader movement for human welfare.

We demand that our people shall have restored to them their right of local self-government.

Attitude Toward Prohibition.

We call the attention of the electors of Ohio to the pending constitutional amendments, all of which are submitted without political party sponsorship through the plan of initiative recently provided for in our constitution and ask a verdict in the convictions of Ohio's citizenship without partial prejudice or political bias.

We pledge the Republican party to the conscientious execution of the will of the majority and to use all the authority provided in the constitution and the statutes for the enforcement of the law.

While the issue in intoxicating liquors subsists in Ohio, we favor its regulation by such laws as are now, or hereafter may be, enacted by the general assembly.

We further propose the decentralization of the licensing authority which, through the present plan of appointment of commissioners by the governor, tends to make a political machine of the system. We would place the licensing authority beyond the manipulation of partisan politics.

We pledge ourselves to home rule in the valuation and assessment of all property for taxation; to the selection of county, township and precinct assessors by the people of their respective communities, either by direct election or by appointment by elective county officials, and to enact a just and efficient system of taxation which will insure the full and honest return of property.

We heartily favor the construction and maintenance of a statewide system of good roads, but we demand that the large expenditures for that purpose shall be made by the regularly constituted authorities of each county, and thereby save the great expense of a state highway department.

Debt.

Debt is the one thing which goes contrary to the laws of nature, because you can contract and expand it at the same time. Nothing exceeds like debt. Every one is always in debt to some one else. Every debtor is a creditor, every creditor is a debtor. There being no clearing house of humanity the thing goes on from day to day, getting more complicated. Everybody starts by owing the government his part of the interest on the national debt. As this is increasing all the time, the fatal habit some people have of putting off the day of their birth counts against them. Debt is a poor sleeping companion. He won't stay hitched. If you put him off in a room by himself and draw down the blinds he always breaks loose and interrupts you just when you are beginning to enjoy yourself. If you fail to pay his board and lodging he grows larger and eats more. And what a witless companion he is!—Life.

ELEVEN DIE

Vessels Collide During Fog and Smoke From Forest Fires.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 27.—Eleven lives were lost when the steel passenger steamship Admiral Sampson of the Pacific Alaska Navigation company was rammed and sunk by the Canadian Pacific passenger steamship Princess Victoria off Point No Point, twenty miles north of Seattle, during a fog and thick smoke from forest fires. The Princess Victoria brought the survivors to Seattle.

The Admiral Sampson sank in four minutes. The Admiral Watson, bound for San Francisco, was near the scene of the accident at the time. Eight of the lost were members of the crew and three were passengers.

The dead among the crew are: Z. S. Moore, captain; L. Cabanas, third cook; W. E. Ricker, first wireless operator; Miss M. Campbell, stewardess; C. Marquette, seaman; A. Sater, watchman; Allen J. Noon, chief engineer; J. B. Williams, mess boy. The passengers lost are: G. W. Bryant, painter, bound for Seward, Alaska; Ezra Byrne; Mrs. Ruby Banbury.

FATAL STABBING

Columbus, Aug. 27.—Joseph Pert, fortythree, was fatally stabbed by George Feuerstein, thirtytwo, a dentist. The tragedy was enacted at Broad and High streets in the midst of throngs of shoppers. Pert had his throat slashed. Patrolman Conley was wounded when he arrested Feuerstein. Police say both Pert and Feuerstein have been inmates of the state hospital for insane and frequently arrested. The cause of the quarrel is not known.

TAKING MEDICINE.

There Are Many Ways of Doing It, but Only One Right Way.

Take a fluid remedy from a medicine glass or from a silver spoon. Chemical action of some liquids upon brass creates a liquid that would be fatal if taken into the stomach. A good rule is never to take medicine from anything made of the coarser metals.

While pouring the medicine from bottle to spoon or cup hold the bottle so that the label is uppermost. This will prevent the medicine pouring over the label and staining if not obliterating it. This precaution, especially in the case of liquids that might be harmful if taken by mistake or in the wrong quantity, is imperative.

Unless directions require you to take medicines full strength, it is better to dilute them half and half with water. Never take doses larger than those specified in the directions. Better that they be smaller.

Under no circumstances take medicine in the dark. The reason is obvious. Read the frequent news of deaths of persons who have taken poisons by mistake.

Be sure never to pour medicine back into the bottle. Never fail to shake the bottle before taking a dose of the contents. If there be any sign of sediment, shake the more.

Unless directed otherwise you would better take all capsules, pills or tablets with a half glass of water.

Never use a liniment near an open flame, for a liniment usually contains some combustible element. Always rub a liniment into the skin until it is nearly dry.

Be sure to brush the teeth after taking medicine, since many medicines contain acids or iron, both of which are injurious to the teeth.

Keep effervescent medicines in a cool place.—New York American.

HUGE CONCERN IS IN HANDS OF THE COURT

Receivers Named For International Steam Pump Company.

New York, Aug. 27.—Receivers were appointed by Judge Mayer of the federal district court for the International Steam Pump company, a $39,000,000 corporation, with several plants and subsidiaries throughout the country. This action was taken by the judge at the request of three creditors of the concern, who brought a friendly suit in equity against the corporation in order to protect its assets from the disastrous effects of possible insolvency proceedings by other creditors.

The receivers named were Philip Coleman and Grayson M. P. Murphy. They were placed under a joint bond of $50,000.

The International Steam Pump company is a New Jersey corporation, but has its headquarters in this city. It was built up to its present size by the late Benjamin Guggenheim.

Had it not been for the depressed condition of the money market due to the war, the corporation might have borrowed enough money to tide it over this critical period.

Outspoken.
Mrs. Smith's four sons made the life of her old colored servant a burden. One day Uncle Andy was busy in the garden hoeing corn and for half an hour Tom, the most mischievous of the quartet, had amused himself throwing clods of dirt at him. At last Andy threw down his hoe and stamped indignantly down to the house.

Out of His Way.

Mrs. Long—You're going out, are you not? Mr. Long—Yes, my dear. Mrs. L.—Well, I wish you'd drop into Brown & Co.'s on your way and match the Mr. L. hurriedly—I've got to see Jones, and that will take me some distance from Brown & Co.'s. Mrs. L.—Well, Mr. Jones' office is only a short distance from the Finery Bazaar, and that will do just as well. Take this and ask—Mr. L. hastily—After leaving Jones I must see Smith, who lives in the opposite direction to the Bazaar, you know. Mrs. L.—No matter! Green's will do. They are near Smith's. Mr. L.—But I've got to take a roundabout way to Smith's in order to see Brown, my dear. Mrs. L. (impatiently)—H'm! Where are you going after you leave Smith's? Mr. L. (helplessly)—I'm going up in an aeroplane!

Peculiarities of Charles Reade.

Charles Reade was peculiar in many ways. Here is the reason he gave to Henry Watterson for never visiting America. "I dare not think about it," he exclaimed. "In the first place, I can't drink or smoke, and I should not get on very well with the natives. Next, I have a weakness for high living, and you Americans have such an awfully jolly lot of things to eat that I'm afraid I should cram myself to death." One of Reade's peculiarities, says J. H. Harper in "The House of Harper," was that he failed to keep copies of the manuscripts he sent. Once, after a long period of illness, he forwarded an installment of a story having the names blank, as he had forgotten what they were.

The Followup Method.

"Why do you get the pretty girls jobs first? Is that fair?"
"Best for all concerned," declared the head of the school of stenography.
"The pretty girl soon marries her employer, and then there's a permanent job for one of the plainer young ladies."—Pittsburgh Post.

A Person to Be Avoided.

"Palanquin is certainly a man to avoid. People have told me a great many stories about him which are not edifying."
"Really? You do well to tell me, for I need not now give him back the money he loaned me."—Paris Figaro.

Before and After.

She (pouting)—Before we were married you often used to catch me in your arms. He—Yes, and now I catch you in my pockets.

WANT FREE TEXT BOOKS

Portsmouth, O., Aug. 27.—The Junior Order United American Mechanics, meeting here, passed resolutions demanding that the United States attorney general investigate the high cost of living and prosecute those responsible for the same. It declared for a continued campaign for regulation of immigration and for a uniform free text book law for the public schools of Ohio. C. D. Hauptfearen of Canton was elected state councillor.

REP. ANDERSON DEAD

Xenia, O., Aug. 27.—State Representative Samuel C. Anderson, renominated by Greene county Republicans for his second term in the Ohio legislature, died at his home near here after a long illness from cancer, aged fifty-five. Radium treatment was resorted to without avail. Mr. Anderson leaves a widow and three children.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

Cleveland, Aug. 27.—C. C. Hills, seventy, secretary of a Cleveland wholesale provision company, was shot and killed by R. E. Boalt, civil engineer, who then killed himself by firing a bullet into his mouth. Boalt's mind was affected by ill health and loss of position, it is said.

How Loch Awe Was Formed.

Highland tradition gives a quaint explanation of the creation of Loch Awe, that noble mirror of the mountains in the magnificent scenery of Argyllshire. The bed of the loch was once, it is said, a fertile valley, with a fairy spring, which had always to be kept covered, bubbling from the mountain side. A careless girl, however, having drawn water, forgot to recover the well. All through the night the spring flowed, and by the morning Loch Awe had come into being. No one need regret the carelessness of that highland lassie. Loch Awe is now one of the most exquisite of beauty spots in Great Britain—a charming sheet of water, studded with pretty islands, while around the shores are many places associated with interesting legends and historic incidents of the highlands.—London Answers.

Greek Wind Vanes.

The Greeks as far back as the fifth century B. C. were the first to make regular meteorological observations, some results of which still are preserved. Their great capacity for pure science induced them to propound meteorological theories. At this time they used wind vanes, and in the first century B. C. they built the tower of wind at Athens. The first quantitative observations—that is, the measurement of rain—were made in the first century A. D. These were made in Palestine, and their results are preserved in the Mishnah.

Salt in the Coffin.

In certain localities in the old world they put salt in the coffin before it is lowered into the grave. This is the survival of an ancient custom which was once universal. The custom grew out of the idea that Satan hates salt because it is the symbol of incorruption and immortality.

AWAIT TO UNFURL FLAG

Washington, Aug. 27.—A protest against the delay of the administration in giving effect to the law approved last week admitting to American registry ships that now fly English flags, was voiced in the house by Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican leader. Mr. Mann read a telegram from James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, in which Mr. Farrell said that vessels of the corporation and those of other companies were ready to take advantage of the new law, but that they were unable to do so because of the delay in issuing the proclamation.

Diamond Saws For Stone.

In the four fields of stone cutting—hard, soft, cast stone and terra cotta—new methods have wrought great changes of late. In the large cutting plants limestone is handled like so much wood and is cut by circular saws, smoothed by planes and bored into with much the same sort of tools as are used by woodworkers. By all means the most interesting machine used in this work is the diamond saw. The word "diamond" is not fancifully applied, for the device actually includes a huge circular saw set around the edge with real diamonds. They are not the clear, white stones that are used in jewelry, to be sure, but for all that they are real black diamonds, said to be worth about $5 a karat. These stones are about the size of dried peas and are set in pairs in interchangeable steel teeth. One of these saws will eat its way through limestone at the rate of twelve inches in a minute. At the end of a month the diamond teeth are taken out and sent away to be recut and reset. A new set of diamond teeth is then put in place at a cost of about $600.—Argonaut.

Peacock Superstitions.

According to Mohammedan tradition, the peacock opened the wicket of paradise to admit the prince of darkness and received a share of his punishment. The feathers, gorgeous in their hellish dye, reflect the glamour of the evil eye; hence the origin of the superstition that peacocks' feathers are unlucky, though the superstition is sometimes said to have its origin in the fable of Argus, whom Juno set to watch Io, one of her husband's mistresses. Argus was beguiled by Mercury and lulled to sleep by his playing, thus allowing Io to escape. Juno, to punish Argus, placed his many eyes in the tail of her peacock, who thenceforth proudly displayed them. Thus a peacock's feather became the symbol of watchful and vindictive jealousy. There was an old superstition that peacocks ruffled their feathers at the sight of poison.

SHARP TAX REDUCTION SHOWN IN FIRST REPORTS RECEIVED

Three Counties Report Reductions Which Exceed the Average Increase to Duplicates.

GENERAL REDUCTION IS NOW ON THE WAY

Increase to Duplicates in Three Counties Reporting is 4.5 Per Cent. While the Actual Average Reduction in the Tax Rate is 16.3 Per Cent.

Columbus, O., August 27.—Announcements of tax rates in the first three counties which reported to the Tax Commission disclose that the average reduction in the tax rates in these three counties exceeds the average increase to the duplicate.

These three counties are Pike and Darke complete, and Defiance, from which reports have been received for about half the taxing districts. In Pike county the average reduction in the tax rate is 16.3 per cent; in Darke 15 per cent, and in Defiance 8.1 per cent. The average reduction in all three counties being 13.1 per cent. The increase to the duplicate in all three counties is 4.5 per cent.

In many cases the reductions establish low marks for rates.

In Pike county they will levy $14,000 less taxes throughout the county in the new year than they did the present year. There is an average reduction throughout the county in the tax rate of 16 1-3 per cent. In Defiance county the average reduction is 8 1-10 per cent.

In Darke county, the rate in Castine village has been cut from $10.40 to $8.40. The lowest rate ever before enjoyed by the people in this village was $10.40.

In every one of the twenty-two taxing districts reported from Defiance county there is a substantial reduction in the rate. In Tiffin township from $7.60 to $6.40; in Highland and Auglaize joint districts from $7.80 to $6.00, a reduction of 23 per cent; in Highland township, from $7.20 to $6.20.

Here are some reductions made in Pike county: Seal township, from $10.30 to $5.25 per $1,000, a reduction of $5.05; in Marion township, from $10.30 per $1,000 to $6.20, a decrease of $4.10. Other decreases are: Piketon corp., from $16.00 to $14.70; Beaver township from $12.50 to $10.90; in Jackson township, from $12.50 to $7.20, a decrease of $5.30 per thousand; Pee Pee township, from $12.50 to $10.50; Mifflin township, from $13.00 to $9.40; Pebble township, from $13.00 to $10; Perry township from $12.50 to $9.70.

ANNUAL ELECTION HELD WEDNESDAY

The Sugar Grove W. C. T. U. organized for the coming year's work at an interesting meeting held with Mrs. Harry Silcott Wednesday afternoon.

There was a large attendance and the county president, Mrs. Alice Taggart, had the meeting in charge.

The annual election resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Elva Post; vice president, Mrs. John Boyer; secretary, Mrs. Ed Darlington; treasurer, Mrs. Bruce Pine.

Delicious refreshments were served during the pleasurable social hour. Mrs. Carrie Gregg and daughter, Genevieve, of Peru, Ind., were out-of-town guests.

HUGHES TOO YOUNG FATHER AWAY, ALSO

Merril F. Hughes, of Clarksburg, appeared in the Probate court Wednesday, asking that he be issued a marriage license. He had the bride-to-be with him and also the written consent of his father. The law, however, requires that at least one witness sign the consent, and because of the lack of this, he was forced to return to his home in Clarksburg. He stated that his father is away on a visit and that he did not know when he would return.—Chillicothe Gazette.

The Mace patch is located just south of this city, and the late rains have guaranteed a good crop.

Couldn't Beat Her.

Ellanora had been the negro maid at Mrs. Hopson's for several years and left to get married. She moved to another city, and nothing had been seen of her for a couple of years, when one day she called on her former mistress.

"And so you have a little son, Ellanora?" said Mrs. Hopson.

"Yes, um," smiled the woman—"a nice little boy."

"And what did you name him?" queried Mrs. Hopson.

"Well, we call him Egg-nog," replied the colored woman.

"Egg-nog?" said the other. "That's a funny name for a boy."

"Well, yo see, missus," explained Ellanora, "det cullud woman what lives nex' doah to me named her twins Tom and Jerry, an I didn't want to be outdone by her."—Delineator.

Life Belts Aren't Cork.

Most people if asked what life belts were composed of would answer, "Cork." But it isn't so nowadays. Cork life belts are nearly as dead as the dodo. The substance almost always used nowadays is a fibrous stuff called kapok, obtained from a plant that grows in Java. Kapok was used to stuff cushions for many years before the idea was hit on of using its beautifully buoyant qualities for nautical purposes. The most buoyant material known to be in existence is, however, made of poppy heads. Experimental buoys have been made of this material, but not with very satisfactory results. Poppy heads crush too easily to make a perfect substance.—Pearson's Weekly.

Japs Establish Effectual Blockade at Kiao Chow and Shell a Small Island—Troops of Mikado Have Not Landed, According to Report.

By Associated Press.

London, August 27.—A dispatch received here from Ostend says the Germans have occupied Lille, Roubaix and Valenciennes, all in France, near the Belgian border.

Tests made at various points along the German army's line of communication, says an Ostend correspondent of the Daily News, show it is surprisingly weak. The Germans seem to have gone forward with the idea that they had nothing more to fear from the Belgian army. "If the allies can hold their own at the front," says the correspondent, "it is certain that German communication, with their base, can be cut at any moment. In fact, their army seems to be up in the air. It has no support and everything has been chanced on a victory for the advancing army which is traveling fast, carrying its own supplies and supplementing them with levies on the surrounding country."

London, August 27.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons today that Field Marshall Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary force, had reported that he was yesterday engaged against superior German forces. The British troops fought splendidly and General French considered the prospects in the impending battle satisfactory.

London, August 27.—A Times dispatch from Rome declares that great pressure is being brought to bear on Italy by Germany and Austria to join in the war, both countries making her alluring promises, but without effect. The Italian people are against Austria, says the dispatch and any decision by the government to join in the conflict by the side of Germany and Austria would mean a revolution.

London, August 27.—It is officially announced, says the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co., that the Russian advance is proceeding into Prussia with irresistible force. The Germans have retreated to Osterode, a town of East Prussia, 100 miles west of Gumbinnen.

JAPS BLOCKADE KIAO CHOW

By Associated Press.

Tsing Tau, August 27.—Vice Admiral Sadakichi Kato, from his flagship, the battleship Suwo, sent a wireless message this morning declaring a blockade of the leased territory of Kiao Chow. Later the Japanese warships appeared outside the harbor and shelled a small island off the coast which was not occupied by the Germans. The German's governor notified Willis R. Peck, American consul at Kiao Chow that he had 24 hours to leave if he so desired. Mr. Peck, however, elected to remain.

Vice Admiral Kato said he would grant neutral shipping 24 hours in which to leave the harbor and the same period for non-combatants to leave the town.

JAPS HAVE NOT LANDED

Tsing Tau, August 27.—Bulletin.—There is no evidence here today of the landing of Japanese troops in the Kiao Chow territory. It is believed that the heavy rains of Kiao Chow, after the summer rains, will deter any Japanese attack for many days.

By Associated Press.

St. Petersburg, August 27.—A Russian army order prohibits the use of food and forage abandoned by the Germans in East Prussia because of cases of poisoning which have occurred. According to all accounts the Germans were taken by surprise at the rapidity of the Russian cavalry movements and the dash through the Mazur lake district where five lines of defense were flanked.

After the capture of Gumbinnen and Insterburg, the line which was strongest, the Angersburg line was taken without fighting.

BADLY INJURED BY SCREEN DOOR HOOK

Raymond Robinett, of the English addition, is suffering from an ugly wound received Tuesday night while he was in the act of rushing out of the Baker grocery on North North street, while playing with some companions.

Robinett, who is about 18 years of age, and an employee of the shoe factory, had started to rush from the store when the screen door closed in such a way that the protruding hook on the door caught him in the eye, tearing the lid almost out and nearly destroying the sight.

The hook penetrated deeply into the eye socket, and inflicted a wound which may yet destroy the sight of the eye.

Blood poured from the wound in a steady stream, and physicians were hurriedly summoned and the young man removed to the Fayette hospital where it required many stitches to close the gaping wound.

The patient is still suffering intensely from the wound, and it will probably be two or three weeks before he will be able to use the eye again, if the sight is not destroyed.

Vienna Reports an Austrian Victory
Over Czar's Troops in a Three Days' Battle in Russian Poland.
Kaiser Announces Annexation of
Belgium as a German Province.
Japanese Squadron Expected in the London, Aug. 27.—French, British and Belgian troops rallied to strike decisive blows against the Kaiser's armies. The main French attack was at Luneville, France, where the Germans were entrenched. French and British troops joined in the assault on the German advance lines at Mabeuge. Belgium's army, rallying from Antwerp, with King Albert at its head, defeated 60,000 Germans at Palvörde, where the Kaiser's troops had retreated when driven out of Malle.

The French war office has issued a statement saying that the allies' lines in the north have been moved back a short distance and that in a general way the French and British offensive between Nancy and the Vosges is making progress. The French right has, however, been obliged to withdraw slightly in the neighborhood of St. Die.

St. Die is in the department of the Vosges, northeast of Epinal, one of the great French frontier fortresses. This region is the farthest from Paris of any of the five lines of concentric advance proclaimed by the Germans, and hence a check there is not deemed by the allies as of equal importance with a defeat in the north, where the distance between the frontier and the capital is shortest.

Russian troops advanced rapidly toward Posen, German Poland, in carrying out the czar's scheme of seizing all Polish territory preparatory to uniting all Poland under his flag.

At the extreme southern Franco-

German border French troops defeated a large force of Germans which attempted to invade France to turn their right flank.

The war press bureau gave out the following statement: "It is officially announced that the French, on their southern frontier, were attacked in force by the Germans. The attack was repulsed and the enemy retired all along the line."

Germany Annexes Belgium.

Russian troops are reported to have occupied Marienburg, in East Prussia, twenty-seven miles southeast of Danzig.

Germany annexed Belgium as a German province and appointed military and civil governors.

Official reports made public in Vienna state that a three days' battle at Krasnik, Russian Poland, ended in a complete Austrian victory. The Russians were repulsed along the entire front of forty-two miles and are now in full flight.

Prince Frederic of Saxe-Meiningen, a lieutenant general in the German army, was killed by a shell before Namur, it is officially announced.

It is intimated here that Japan's answer to the Austrian declaration of war will be to dispatch a Japanese squadron to the Adriatic, which would permit the assembling of the warships of the allies in all quarters of the globe.

All Americans have been advised by the American embassy to leave Italy. "Americans remain at their own risk," the warning says.

The next attack in the Belgian theater of war is expected between Iruges and Blankenburg, where there have already been skirmishes with the outposts. Communication with Antwerp has been re-established. The country southwest of Antwerp has, as far as can be ascertained by the civil authorities, been cleared of the enemy.

The Russian advance in East Prussia has become so formidable as to cause alarm in Berlin, where measures to arrest the forward movement are being taken. The German forces have been obliged to retreat until only the Osterode line of lakes remains between them and the river Vistula.

Reports by way of Copenhagen from Cologne say that the engagement fought in Lorraine was contested by armies estimated at 300,000 men on each side.

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS

Paris, Aug. 27.—The French ministry, headed by Premier Rene Viviani, resigned. Another cabinet was immediately formed.

Viviani visited Elysee palace and informed President Poincare that the members of the cabinet had decided to resign collectively. He said that he and his colleagues had come to the decision that in the circumstance through which the country was passing the ministry should have a wider scope and comprise all the men in all the Republican groups. President Poincare charged Viviani with the task of organizing a new cabinet and the premier accepted. He returned to the Elysee about an hour later and made known to the president the composition of the new ministry. Viviani remains president of the council and Theophile Delcasse is retained as minister of foreign affairs.

The advancement of younger generals to high commands is now certain.

ACCIDENTS ON THE WATER.

How a Pot or Pan or Even a Hat May Be Used as a Life Preserver.

The worst thing to do in an accident on the water is to flounder around and shriek and cry. That expels the air from the lungs, and then the body will quickly sink. With this fact understood we may experiment with a number of things to show how little it takes to support the body. The high silk hat of man contains sufficient air to keep him from sinking if he grasps it by the rim and holds it upright so that the air is imprisoned under the hat. Even a derby hat will support a half grown boy or girl if held right.

Disbans and buckets or tin pails can also be used as life preservers. Invert these in the water and grasp the rim with both hands and do not tip them so the air can escape. Not long ago a party of girls out rowing had their boat upset in a mountain lake. All of them except one could swim. This girl had an umbrella with her, raised to ward off the sun's rays when the accident occurred. Finding herself in the water some distance from the boat, she grabbed for the nearest thing in reach. It proved to be her umbrella, floating with the handle down in the water. She threw both arms frantically around the open umbrella. To her surprise and to that of her comrades, she did not sink. The imprisoned air under the umbrella supported her head above the water until help arrived.

The small amount of air contained in a bicycle tire will keep one's head above water for hours. Even if one is a fair swimmer, the day may come when a knowledge of some of these every day life preservers will prove of the greatest value. If thrown in the water a long distance from shore you may be able to float and swim with such an aid three times as far as you could without them.—George E. Walsh in Leslie's.

Her Seven Sons.

A mother who had only one child, a son, lost him through an accident by drowning when he was seventeen. His body was washed out to sea and never recovered. She very much wanted a portrait of him, and she called a famous artist who was a friend of the family. He asked for every photograph she had of her son from babyhood onward. When the painting arrived it represented a glade in a wood. Playing about were five little children of various ages, but all the same boy as his mother had known him. Coming down the center, joyous, gay, was the seventeen-year-old lad leading his baby self of one year by the hand. The mother looked at the picture and burst into tears. "I have lost seven sons!" she said.

"You had lost six of them before your son died," the artist replied.

Law Lord in a Cell.

Lord Russell once gave a lecture on his imprisonment in Holloway jail. The thing that impressed him most strangely during the early period of his confinement was being without his pipe and watch. He was perpetually feeling in his pocket to see the time or for matches or tobacco. He soon got over the want of smoking and after six weeks obtained leave to wear his watch, the absence of which worried him more than having no tobacco pouch. When he went into prison the governor asked his religion, and he replied, "Agnostic." This answer seemed to puzzle the official, who said he supposed it was Protestant, not Catholic. And as "Prot." Lord Russell was entered on the card outside his cell.

RUSSIANS ADVANCING

Paris, Aug. 27.—Official telegrams from St. Petersburg relate that the Austrian rear guard tried to hold the Russians around Tarnopol and along the Sileth river without success. The Austrians lost two mitrailleuses, one railroad train and much war material.

The Russians are driving the German first army corps toward Danzig. The Russian advance is said to be at Marienburg, twenty-six miles from Danzig. In eastern Galicia the Russians appear to have driven back the Austrian troops at several points. A military authority at St. Petersburg is quoted as saying that Russia will have 3,000,000 men in Germany and 2,000,000 men in Austria within fifteen days.

Government in the Islands.

CREATES AN ELECTIVE SENATE

No Definite Date Fixed For the Complete Separation of the Archipelago From the Sovereignty of the United States—Veto Power of the Governor General Qualified—Other Features of the Measure.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The administration bill declaring that this government will grant the Filipinos independence when they are capable of administering a stable government and according to the islanders a larger share in the present government, was reported to the house by Representative Jones of Virginia.

chairman of the house committee on insular affairs. The promise of absolute independence contained in the bill is nebulous, as no definite date for the separation of the islands from the sovereignty of the United States is fixed.

The Jones bill enlarges the scope of self-government in the Philippine Islands by granting to the insular administration certain additional powers, among them the right to have an elective senate, thus making both branches of the Philippine legislature directly responsive to the Philippine people. The bill qualifies the veto power of the governor general of the Philippines appointed by the president, but gives absolute power of veto to the president over the acts of the insular legislature.

BOOSTED PRICES

Washington, Aug. 27.—Officials of the department of justice said that in all likelihood action would be begun against certain big beet sugar interests in a few days, charging them with conspiring to fix the price of sugar at abnormally high levels. It is the intention of the department that this action shall deal only with alleged price manipulation in one state in the middle west. Announcement was also made at the department that the United States district attorney for the northern district of New York had reported progress in the investigation there and that a grand jury inquiry probably would be sought.

TOWNS TAKEN AND RETAKEN

Paris, Aug. 27.—The fierce nature of the fighting on the Franco-Belgian frontier may be estimated by the fact that Charleroi was taken and retaken seven times. Luneville, near the Alsatian border, has been retaken for the third time, and it is believed that it is again in the hands of the French.

We Do It on the Fourth.

It is curious that the Fourth of July has become the American day of celebration, since it was on July 2 that congress passed the really important motion for independence, and the Fourth only saw the adoption of the Declaration. John Adams wrote to his wife: "The 2d day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other from this time forward for evermore." But they do it on the Fourth.—London Chronicle.

It is curious that the Fourth of July has become the American day of celebration, since it was on July 2 that congress passed the really important motion for independence, and the Fourth only saw the adoption of the Declaration. ## Poetry For Today

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN; ITS YOU.
If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll find what you want left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.
It isn't your town—it's you!

Real towns are not made by men
Afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead,
When every one works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor can make one too,
Your town will be what you want to see.
It isn't your town—it's you.

Music of Our Indians.

The music of our Indians is solely and simply vocal. It seems to be generally agreed by musical authorities that the Indians' songs have in them nothing borrowed from instruments, nothing of artificial instigation. An Indian melody never served two sets of words. There is no instance, it appears, where the people have followed our custom of singing the different stanzas of a ballad to the same air. A large proportion of Indian songs are entirely without words at all, syllables being employed to carry the tones. Perhaps the most striking peculiarity of Indian music is the lack of definite pitch, for there is no such thing as standard pitch among the musicians of the red men. The Indian begins his song where the natural quality of his voice and his mood at the time render it easiest for him to sing it. The pitch of the song depends upon the individual.—Philadelphia Record.

Old Nick and Nickel.

Nickel was first discovered by Croustedt in 1751. No use was made of it, as it was found only in small amounts. For a great many years the German miners called it kupfernickel, or devil's copper. It was believed by those simple folk that Old Nick, or the devil, made this ore purposely to bother the miners, as it looked exactly like copper ore and yet no copper could be extracted from it. Nickel was scarce until a New York assayer found a quantity of it in a shipment of ore from Canada. He stated its value in his report, and the owner of the mine prospected for more and found large quantities of it. Nickel is hard, ductile and malleable. It is white in color, with a yellowish cast. It ranks next to iron and cobalt in magnetic properties and is extensively used for plating purposes, because it will take a high polish and will not rust. Nickel added to steel makes it harder and stronger.—New York World.

FRANCIS JOSEPH FIGURE AMONG

Aged Monarch Harried by Grim Misfortune From His Boyhood.

IT has fallen to the lot of few men to bear such a series of misfortunes as those that came to Francis Joseph (Charles) I., emperor of Austria, whose eighty-fourth birthday occurred Aug. 18. The reign of the oldest monarch in the world was one of woe and disaster. His most recent and most personal grief was caused by Gavrio Prinzip, the Serbian anarchist, whose bullets ended the life of the heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenburg. But before this happened he had earned the title of the Sorrowful Emperor.

Waiving the question of right or wrong in declaring war on Serbia, as the direct result of the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, the fact stands out that it was this act which plunged all of Europe into a bloody conflict, a conflict aptly described by the British government in its call for men to enlist under the Union Jack as the greatest war in the history of the world.

From the day when as a boy of eighteen he was ordered by the family council to dethrone his uncle, since otherwise all hope for the house of Hapsburg was lost, Francis Joseph never knew a happy day. He has remained upon the throne of his country for over sixty-six years, the saddest monarch of his age.

Curse Over Family.

A curse, uttered with all the hatred and vindictiveness of a woman whose heart was torn with grief, hangs over the house of Hapsburg. Since this curse upon the emperor and his family was made in 1848 by the Countess Karolyi, the house of Hapsburg has known more grief than any other royal family of Europe.

Following the execution of her son for his activity in the Hungarian uprising, Countess Karolyi sought an audience with the emperor. Once in his presence she denounced him in the most scathing terms; she prayed that his life be stripped of happiness, that misery and suffering come to those dearest to him, and that he be crushed to the earth in despair. The woman left his presence with the declaration that her prayers would be answered and the death of her son avenged.

A political cataclysm set Francis Joseph on his throne as a boy and loaded him with responsibilities and griefs such as only the strong can bear. Francis Joseph had hardly reached the throne when he was forced to lead his soldiers against his own people in the quelling of a bloody revolution. These events had hardly passed well into recollection when his natural ally made war on him, reduced him to humiliating peace and took a slice of his provinces.

Brother Executed In Mexico.

Francis Joseph was duped into permitting his brother to become the tool of Napoleon III. in a wild scheme to establish a Franco-Austrian monarchy in Mexico. The unhappy Empress Carlotta went insane begging Napoleon to aid her defeated husband, and Maximilian himself was shot to death with his generals, making a final tragic plea that they shoot low, so his mother might look upon his dead face unmarred.

Francis Joseph's Italian provinces revolted and joined the Italian kingdom. Every few years there have been fresh outbreaks in his own country. Time and again European wars threatened to engulf him and his kingdom, and he faced the possibility that his death would mean the dissolution of his remnant of the great German-Roman empire, which one day ruled the world.

But to all these public disasters was added a list of private or personal griefs such as few men—high or low—have ever been made to bear.

Perhaps the greatest of these tragedies and the one that bore most heavily on the old monarch, was the mysterious death of his only son, the Crown Prince Rudolph, at Meyerling. Rudolph was twenty-three years old when he married in 1881 Princess Stephanie, daughter of the king of the Belgians. The princess was sixteen. The crown prince married her for state reasons, and they became known as "the most unhappy royal couple in Europe."

The crown prince was invited to a reception at the home of a cousin, the Countess Larisch. That was in the fall of 1887. There the countess introduced him to a beautiful young woman, the Baroness Vetsera, nineteen years old.

The crown prince lost his head and heart. He went to his father, the emperor, and announced that he intended to divorce Stephanie and marry the young baroness, offering to renounce all claims to the throne. The emperor forbade it. Rudolph applied to the pope for permission to annul his marriage to Stephanie, but again was rebuffed.

Several months later, through the pleadings of his family, the crown prince agreed to be reconciled to Stephanie, and a state reception was planned in honor of their reunion.

The Baroness Vetsera heard of this on the morning of the day for which

A Fatal Farewell.

Rudolph's love for the baroness was revived, and he agreed to meet her that night in a hunting chateau near by for a last farewell. When the royal family and guests assembled for the state dinner the crown prince could not be found. After a wait of several hours word came that the bodies of Rudolph and the Baroness Vetsera had been found in a room in the chateau.

For many years the affair was shrouded in mystery. Only recently Countess Larisch tore away the veil in her book entitled "My Past." Her conclusion was that the lovers agreed to die together, Rudolph slaying the baroness and then himself.

The widowed Stephanie fell in love with and married Count Elmer Lonlay, a young nobleman. The crown princess lost her royal rank in Austria and her native country through the marriage.

Next in order the Archduke Johann Salvatore fell in love with Milli Stibel, a Viennese dancer, and was refused the right to marry her.

Finally, after a stormy interview with the emperor, the archduke wrote a terrific brochure against the Austrian army, resigned all his rank, took the name of John Orth and departed from Austria. In February, 1890, he met Milli Stibel in London, where they were married. They set sail on the ship St. Margarita for South America. The vessel was wrecked, and nothing authoritative has been heard of Salvatore since.

Every few years stories have cropped out purporting to reveal the whereabouts of the lost archduke.

Tragic Death of Wife.

As deep and long lived a grief as any borne by the emperor of sorrows came through his wife. At the outset it was a love match, and for many years the emperor and his consort were ideally happy. The private lives of both always were above reproach. But as years crept upon her the Empress Elizabeth began to show the eccentricities that have beset all her line.

Austria and its emperor became distasteful to her; there were long absences, domestic scenes and gossip. Finally Elizabeth decided to make her own home and court. At an expense of $600,000 she built on the beautiful island of Corfu, in the Mediterranean, the remarkable castle of Achilleion. Beyond this sum she spent on the grounds and furnishings as much more.

The empress spent her winters, her autumns and springs at Corfu. The rest of her time she traveled. She had come from Corfu only a short time, and one day was walking in the sun on the quay at Geneva with an attendant. She was making her way along to a little boat that was to carry her to Montreux when a man darted out of a bevy, walked a moment near the empress and then stabbed her through the body with a stiletto.

She fell in a trickle of her blood. The man ran and for the time made his escape. They carried her aboard the boat, and there she died within half an hour, thrust through a vital spot with the dagger, which had been fashioned from a small file. Within a few hours an Italian anarchist, Luigi Luceni, had been captured and confessed his crime.

Own Life Thrice Menaced.

Thrice was the life of the emperor himself attempted. In 1853 at a review in Vienna a Hungarian named Joseph Libenyi tried to cut the emperor's throat before all his troops. Francis Joseph suffered a slight wound. The man was caught on the spot. On the next day he was hanged.

In 1866 when the emperor was leaving a theater at Prague a man in the crowd tried to kill him with a pistol. Rescue came from an odd source. A British steamship engineer who chanced to be in Prague and near by subdued the assassin.

Trieste was the scene of the third attempt in 1882. Bombs were placed, but failed to do their work. The chief conspirator, Overdank, was executed.

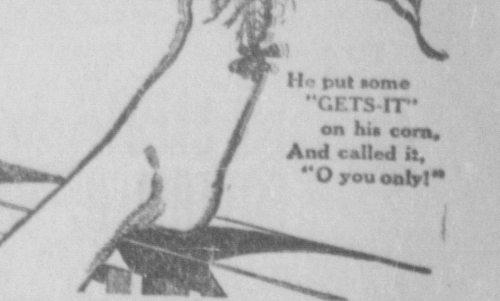

The venerable monarch bore many titles. The "sorrowful emperor" was one, justified by the three appalling tragedies of brother, son and wife—the brother shot in Mexico, the son slain in the mysterious tragedy of Meyerling and the wife butchered by an assassin in the year of his golden jubilee. The "reform emperor" they called him when in 1867 the idea of a centralized Austrian empire gave way to that of a dual Austro-Hungarian monarchy, consisting of an indissoluble federation of two equal states under a single sovereign, each having a constitution, government and representative parliament of its own.

The "peace monarch" he was called in reference to the function of his realm as the balance wheel of the European diplomatic machine, until the present war.

Fighting Men

It takes intelligent men to make the best soldiers. The rank and file of the troops must be men of good brain as well as the commanders; if an army is of the highest efficiency. High culture is not required, but real brain power must be there. An ignorant man is likely to be a cowardly one. There was formerly a prevailing opinion that physical prowess and mental power were two forces that were entirely distinct. That may be true where only a certain amount of pure brute force is required, like lifting a barrel of sugar or striking a heavy predetermined blow. But when you place men face to face in a contest where brain is against brain and bodily strength against bodily strength, the victory is likely to incline to the preponderance of brain.

Relative intelligence distinguishes man from beasts, and has given him dominion over them. We have seen men on the football field who could lift almost incredible weight and were fairly agile, who failed simply because they lacked sufficient concentration to coordinate their efforts with the team play at the crucial moment. In the great national sport of baseball, how many men fail from lack of sagacity, rather than from insufficient strength and agility. We heard it said of a pitcher once that he had a ten thousand dollar arm and a five cent head. It takes quick thinking in baseball, and the man who hasn't a good think tank cannot go very far in the game. He must not only be able to know what play to make in every crisis without hesitation, but he must be deep enough judge of human nature to place him in sympathy with every one of his team associates.

How much more is quickness of intellect necessary in the common soldier. There the game is played for life or death. How much opportunity for quick wit in the charge, the retreat, the cover, the hand to hand fight. Brawn and weapons being equal, superior brains in the common soldier will be almost uniformly victorious. The phalanx of Alexander the Great derived its chief strength from the intelligence in the ranks. No better soldiers ever took up arms than those of both North and South in our own Civil war. Some of the ablest men of our country were carrying muskets.

The success thus far of the Germans is perhaps due in large measure to the fact that her ranks are filled with her very best middle class citizens.

Servians Use Assassination as Means to Effect Purpose of Government

By Dr. CHARLES WINTER, Acting Consul General of Austria-Hungary in New York

IN Servia assassination for political reasons is more or less used as a political means of effecting the government's purpose. The WHOLE CIVILIZED WORLD WAS SCANDALIZED at the time of the assassination of King Alexander and his wife, Queen Draga.

WAS IT AN ANARCHIST WHO COMMITTED THAT TERRIBLE DEED? NO. THEY WERE OFFICERS OF THE SERBIAN ARMY. AND HAVE THEY EVER BEEN PUNISHED? NO. THEY NEVER HAVE BEEN CALLED TO ACCOUNT FOR THEIR CRIME, AND THEY ARE STILL HOLDING HIGH POSITIONS IN THE SERBIAN ARMY. THERE EXISTS A STRONG CURRENT OF OPINION THAT AUSTRIA-HUNGARY SHOULD LEAVE IT TO THE SERBIAN GOVERNMENT TO PUNISH THE INSTIGATORS OF THE MURDER OF THE ARCHDUKE FRANCIS FERDINAND AND HIS CONSORT. DOES IT NOT SOUND LIKE IRONY?

Was perhaps the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga the only political murder in the modern history of Servia? No. In the year 1868 the Serbian Prince Michael was also the victim of political and not anarchistic plot. And King Milan died a natural death only because he fled in time to Austrian territory.

WITH AN ENEMY THAT HAS SUCH A STANDARD OF POLITICAL MORALS ONLY THE SWORD CAN SPEAK THE RIGHT LANGUAGE.

A Red Spider Gone Wrong.

The chigger is really an embryo that never got out of the chrysalis stage. He started out to be a red spider and stopped at becoming a pest. His papa and mamma are red spiders, about the size of a pinhead and bright red. They inhabit old stumps and logs in the woods and feed on vegetable diet. But their offspring are divided into two classes—the bloodthirsty and the non-bloodthirsty. The nonbloodthirsty, like a well behaved child, heeds mother's advice and dines on grass and leaves and old woods. He grows up to a red spider. But the bloodthirsty little cuss hunts up a quadruped or a biped when he feels hungry and burrows. He has no control over his appetite.

says the entomologist, and gorges himself. Ergo, he dies. He is the chigger. He is so small that he can scarcely be seen by the naked eye. Of course he doesn't rear a family, in consequence. But his nonbloodthirsty brothers and sisters will reach years of maturity and acquire offspring. And among their children will be chiggers. So the race is kept up.—Kansas City Star

Vienna Reports an Austrian Victory Over Czar's Troops in a Three Days' Battle in Russian Poland. Kaiser Announces Annexation of Belgium as a German Province. Japanese Squadron Expected in the Adriatic.

London, Aug. 27.—French, British and Belgian troops rallied to strike decisive blows against the Kaiser's armies. The main French attack was at Luneville, France, where the Germans were entrenched. French and Belgian troops joined in the assault on the German advance lines at Mabeuge, Belgium's army, rallying from Antwerp, with King Albert at its head, defeated 60,000 Germans at Palvorde, where the Kaiser's troops had retreated when driven out of Malines.

The French war office has issued a statement saying that the allies' lines in the north have been moved back a short distance and that in a general way the French and British offensive between Nancy and the Vosges is making progress. The French right has, however, been obliged to withdraw slightly in the neighborhood of St. Die.

St. Die is in the department of the Vosges, northeast of Epinal, one of the great French frontier fortresses. This region is the farthest from Paris of any of the five lines of concentric advance proclaimed by the Germans, and hence a check there is not deemed by the allies as of equal importance with a defeat in the north, where the distance between the frontier and the capital is shortest.

Russian troops advanced rapidly toward Posen, German Poland, in carrying out the czar's scheme of seizing all Polish territory preparatory to uniting all Poland under his flag. At the extreme southern Franco-

German border French troops defeated a large force of Germans which attempted to invade France to turn their right flank.

The war press bureau gave out the following statement: "It is officially announced that the French, on their southern frontier, were attacked in force by the Germans. The attack was repulsed and the enemy retired all along the line."

Germany Annexes Belgium.

Russian troops are reported to have occupied Marienburg, in East Prussia, twenty-seven miles southeast of Danzig.

Germany annexed Belgium as a German province and appointed military and civil governors.

Official reports made public in Vienna state that a three days' battle at Krasnik, Russian Poland, ended in a complete Austrian victory. The Russians were repulsed along the entire front of forty-two miles and are now in full flight.

Prince Frederic of Saxe-Meiningen, a lieutenant general in the German army, was killed by a shell before Namur, it is officially announced.

It is intimated here that Japan's answer to the Austrian declaration of war will be to dispatch a Japanese squadron to the Adriatic, which would permit the assembling of the warships of the allies in all quarters of the globe.

All Americans have been advised by the American embassy to leave Italy. "Americans remain at their own risk," the warning says.

The next attack in the Belgian theater of war is expected between Bruges and Blankenburg, where there have already been skirmishes with the outposts. Communication with Antwerp has been re-established. The country southwest of Antwerp has, as far as can be ascertained by the civil authorities, been cleared of the enemy.

The Russian advance in East Prussia has become so formidable as to cause alarm in Berlin, where measures to arrest the forward movement are being taken. The German forces have been obliged to retreat until only the Osterode line of lakes remains between them and the river Vistula.

Reports by way of Copenhagen from Cologne say that the engagement fought in Lorraine was contested by armies estimated at 300,000 men on each side.

RUSSIANS ADVANCING

Paris, Aug. 27.—Official telegrams from St. Petersburg relate that the Austrian rear guard tried to hold the Russians around Teropol and along the Selet river without success. The Austrians lost two mitrailleuses, one railroad train and much war material.

The Russians are driving the German first army corps toward Danzig. The Russian advance is said to be at Marienburg, twenty-six miles from Danzig. In eastern Galicia the Russians appear to have driven back the Austrian troops at several points. A military authority at St. Petersburg is quoted as saying that Russia will have 3,000,000 men in Germany and 2,000,000 men in Austria within fifteen days.

chairman of the house committee on insular affairs. The promise of absolute independence contained in the bill is nebulous, as no definite date for the separation of the islands from the sovereignty of the United States is fixed.

The Jones bill enlarges the scope of self-government in the Philippine Islands by granting to the insular administration certain additional powers, among them the right to have an elective senate, thus making both branches of the Philippine legislature directly responsive to the Philippine people. The bill qualifies the veto power of the governor general of the Philippines appointed by the president, but gives absolute power of veto to the president over the acts of the island legislature.

BOOSTED PRICES

Washington, Aug. 27.—Officials of the department of justice said that in all likelihood action would be begun against certain big beet sugar interests in a few days, charging them with conspiring to fix the price of sugar at abnormally high levels. It is the intention of the department that this action shall deal only with alleged price manipulation in one state in the middle west. Announcement was also made at the department that the United States district attorney for the northern district of New York had reported progress in the investigation there and that a grand jury inquiry probably would be sought.

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS

Paris, Aug. 27.—The French ministry, headed by Premier Rene Viviani, resigned. Another cabinet was immediately formed.

Viviani visited Elysee palace and informed President Poincare that the members of the cabinet had decided to resign collectively. He said that he and his colleagues had come to the decision that in the circumstance through which the country was passing the ministry should have a wider scope and comprise all the men in all the Republican groups. President Poincare charged Viviani with the task of organizing a new cabinet and the premier accepted. He returned to the Elysee about an hour later and made known to the president the composition of the new ministry. Viviani remains president of the council and Theophile Delcasse is retained as minister of foreign affairs. The advancement of younger generals to high commands is now certain.

ACCIDENTS ON THE WATER.

How a Pot or Pan or Even a Hat May Be Used as a Life Preserver.

The worst thing to do in an accident on the water is to flounder around and shriek and cry. That expels the air from the lungs, and then the body will quickly sink. With this fact understood we may experiment with a number of things to show how little it takes to support the body. The high silk hat of man contains sufficient air to keep him from sinking if he grasps it by the rim and holds it upright so that the air is imprisoned under the hat. Even a derby hat will support a half grown boy or girl if held right.

Dishpans and buckets or tin pails can also be used as life preservers. Invert these in the water and grasp the rim with both hands and do not tip them so the air can escape. Not long ago a party of girls out rowing had their boat upset in a mountain lake. All of them except one could swim. This girl had an umbrella with her, raised to ward off the sun's rays when the accident occurred. Finding herself in the water some distance from the boat, she grabbed for the nearest thing in reach. It proved to be her umbrella, floating with the handle down in the water. She threw both arms frantically around the open umbrella. To her surprise and to that of her comrades, she did not sink. The imprisoned air under the umbrella supported her head above the water until help arrived.

The small amount of air contained in a bicycle tire will keep one's head above water for hours. Even if one is a fair swimmer, the day may come when a knowledge of some of these every day life preservers will prove of the greatest value. If thrown in the water a long distance from shore you may be able to float and swim with such an aid three times as far as you could without them. —George E. Walsh in Leslie's.

Her Seven Sons.

A mother who had only one child, a son, lost him through an accident by drowning when he was seventeen. His body was washed out to sea and never recovered. She very much wanted a portrait of him, and she called a famous artist who was a friend of the family. He asked for every photograph she had of her son from babyhood onward. When the painting arrived it represented a glade in a wood. Playing about were five little children of various ages, but all the same boy as his mother had known him. Coming down the center, joyous, gay, was the seventeen-year-old lad leading his baby self of one year by the hand. The mother looked at the picture and burst into tears. "I have lost seven sons!" she said.

"You had lost six of them before your son died," the artist replied.

Law Lord in a Cell.

Lord Russell once gave a lecture on his imprisonment in Holloway jail. The thing that impressed him most strangely during the early period of his confinement was being without his pipe and watch. He was perpetually feeling in his pocket to see the time or for matches or tobacco. He soon got over the want of smoking and after six weeks obtained leave to wear his watch, the absence of which worried him more than having no tobacco pouch. When he went into prison the governor asked his religion, and he replied, "Agnostic." This answer seemed to puzzle the official, who said he supposed it was Protestant, not Catholic. And as "Prot." Lord Russell was entered on the card outside his cell.

TOWNS TAKEN AND RETAKEN

Paris, Aug. 27.—The fierce nature of the fighting on the Franco-Belgian frontier may be estimated by the fact that Charleroi was taken and retaken seven times. Luneville, near the Alsatian border, has been retaken for the third time, and it is believed that it is again in the hands of the French.

CANADA TO RUSH TROOPS

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 27.—The first complement of Canadian volunteers to go to the front will be sent to Europe in twenty transports with all possible speed. Official announcement to this effect was made by the militia department. The Princess Patricia Light infantry expects to sail Saturday.

We Do It on the Fourth.

It is curious that the Fourth of July has become the American day of celebration, since it was on July 2 that congress passed the really important motion for independence, and the Fourth only saw the adoption of the Declaration. John Adams wrote to his wife: "The 2d day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other from this time forward for evermore." But they do it on the Fourth.—London Chronicle.

Poetry For Today

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN; ITS YOU.
If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll find what you want left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.
It isn't your town—it's you!

Real towns are not made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead,
When every one works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor can make one too,
Your town will be what you want to see.
It isn't your town—it's you.

Music of Our Indians.

The music of our Indians is solely and simply vocal. It seems to be generally agreed by musical authorities that the Indians' songs have in them nothing borrowed from instruments, nothing of artificial instigation. An Indian melody never served two sets of words. There is no instance, it appears, where the people have followed our custom of singing the different stanzas of a ballad to the same air. A large proportion of Indian songs are entirely without words at all, syllables being employed to carry the tones. Perhaps the most striking peculiarity of Indian music is the lack of definite pitch, for there is no such thing as a standard pitch among the musicians of the red men. The Indian begins his song where the natural quality of his voice and his mood at the time render it easiest for him to sing it. The pitch of the song depends upon the individual.—Philadelphia Record.

Old Nick and Nickel.

Nickel was first discovered by Cronstedt in 1751. No use was made of it, as it was found only in small amounts. For a great many years the German miners called it kupfernickel, or devil's copper. It was believed by those simple folk that Old Nick, or the devil, made this ore purposely to bother the miners, as it looked exactly like copper ore and yet no copper could be extracted from it. Nickel was scarce until a New York assayer found a quantity of it in a shipment of ore from Canada. He stated its value in his report, and the owner of the mine prospected for more and found large quantities of it. Nickel is hard, ductile and malleable. It is white in color, with a yellowish cast. It ranks next to iron and cobalt in magnetic properties and is extensively used for plating purposes, because it will take a high polish and will not rust. Nickel added to steel makes it harder and stronger.—New York World.

FRANCIS JOSEPH THE SADDEST FIGURE AMONG EUROPE'S RULERS

Aged Monarch Harried by Grim Misfortune From His Boyhood.

It has fallen to the lot of few men to bear such a series of misfortunes as those that came to Francis Joseph (Charles) I., emperor of Austria, whose eighty-fourth birthday occurred Aug. 18. The reign of the oldest monarch in the world was one of woe and disaster. His most recent and most personal grief was caused by Gavrio Prinzip, the Serbian anarchist, whose bullets ended the life of the heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenburg. But before this happened he had earned the title of the Sorrowful Emperor.

Waiving the question of right or wrong in declaring war on Serbia, as the direct result of the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, the fact stands out that it was this act which plunged all of Europe into a bloody conflict, a conflict aptly described by the British government in its call for men to enlist under the Union Jack as the greatest war in the history of the world.

From the day when as a boy of eighteen he was ordered by the family council to dethrone his uncle, since otherwise all hope for the house of Hapsburg was lost, Francis Joseph never knew a happy day. He has remained upon the throne of his country for over sixty-six years, the saddest monarch of his age.

Curse Over Family.

A curse, uttered with all the hatred and vindictiveness of a woman whose heart was torn with grief, hangs over the house of Hapsburg. Since this curse upon the emperor and his family was made in 1848 by the Countess Karolyi, the house of Hapsburg has known more grief than any other royal family of Europe.

Following the execution of her son for his activity in the Hungarian uprising, Countess Karolyi sought an audience with the emperor. Once in his presence she denounced him in the most scathing terms; she prayed that his life be stripped of happiness, that misery and suffering come to those dearest to him, and that he be crushed to the earth in despair. The woman left his presence with the declaration that her prayers would be answered and the death of her son avenged.

A political cataclysm set Francis Joseph on his throne as a boy and loaded him with responsibilities and griefs such as only the strong can bear.

Francis Joseph had hardly reached the throne when he was forced to lead his soldiers against his own people in the quelling of a bloody revolution. These events had hardly passed well into recollection when his natural ally made war on him, reduced him to humiliating peace and took a slice of his provinces.

Brother Executed in Mexico.

Francis Joseph was duped into permitting his brother to become the tool of Napoleon III. in a wild scheme to establish a Franco-Austrian monarchy in Mexico. The unhappy Empress Carlotta went insane begging Napoleon to aid her defeated husband, and Maximilian himself was shot to death with his generals, making a final tragic plea that they shoot low, so his mother might look upon his dead face unmarred.

Francis Joseph's Italian provinces revolted and joined the Italian kingdom. Every few years there have been fresh outbreaks in his own country. Time and again European wars threatened to engulf him and his kingdom, and he faced the possibility that his death would mean the dissolution of his remnant of the great German-Roman empire, which one day ruled the world.

But to all these public disasters was added a list of private or personal griefs such as few men—high or low—have ever been made to bear.

Perhaps the greatest of these tragedies and the one that bore most heavily on the old monarch, was the mysterious death of his only son, the Crown Prince Rudolph, at Meyerling.

Rudolph was twenty-three years old when he married in 1881 Princess Stephanie, daughter of the king of the Belgians. The princess was sixteen. The crown prince married her for state reasons, and they became known as "the most unhappy royal couple in Europe."

The crown prince was invited to a reception at the home of a cousin, the Countess Larisch. That was in the fall of 1887. There the countess introduced him to a beautiful young woman, the Baroness Vetsera, nineteen years old.

The crown prince lost his head and heart. He went to his father, the emperor, and announced that he intended to divorce Stephanie and marry the young baroness, offering to renounce all claims to the throne. The emperor forbade it. Rudolph applied to the pope for permission to annul his marriage to Stephanie, but again was rebuffed.

Several months later, through the pleadings of his family, the crown prince agreed to be reconciled to Stephanie, and a state reception was planned in honor of their reunion.

The Baroness Vetsera heard of this on the morning of the day for which the reception was planned. She went to the palace and, forcing her way past the palace guards, gained access to the crown prince's room. There she flung herself at his feet, begging him not to desert her.

A Fatal Farewell.

Rudolph's love for the baroness was revived, and he agreed to meet her that night in a hunting chateau near by for a last farewell. When the royal family and guests assembled for the state dinner the crown prince could not be found. After a wait of several hours word came that the bodies of Rudolph and the Baroness Vetsera had been found in a room in the chateau.

For many years the affair was shrouded in mystery. Only recently Countess Larisch tore away the veil in her book entitled "My Past." Her conclusion was that the lovers agreed to die together, Rudolph slaying the baroness and then himself.

The widowed Stephanie fell in love with and married Count Elmer Lonyay, a young nobleman. The crown princess lost her royal rank in Austria and her native country through the marriage.

Next in order the Archduke Johann Salvatore fell in love with Milli Stubel, a Viennese dancer, and was refused the right to marry her.

Finally, after a stormy interview with the emperor, the archduke wrote a terrific brochure against the Austrian army, resigned all his rank, took the name of John Orth and departed from Austria. In February, 1890, he met Milli Stubel in London, where they were married. They set sail on the ship St. Margarita for South America. The vessel was wrecked, and nothing authoritative has been heard of Salvatore since.

Every few years stories have cropped out purporting to reveal the whereabouts of the lost archduke.

Tragic Death of Wife.

As deep and long lived a grief as any borne by the emperor of sorrows came through his wife. At the outset it was a love match, and for many years the emperor and his consort were ideally happy. The private lives of both always were above reproach. But as years crept upon her the Empress Elizabeth began to show the eccentricities that have beset all her line.

Austria and its emperor became distasteful to her; there were long absences, domestic scenes and gossip. Finally Elizabeth decided to make her own home and court. At an expense of $600,000 she built on the beautiful island of Corfu, in the Mediterranean, the remarkable castle of Achilleon. Beyond this sum she spent on the grounds and furnishings as much more.

The empress spent her winters, her autumns and springs at Corfu. The rest of her time she traveled. She had come from Corfu only a short time, and one day was walking in the sun on the quay at Geneva with an attendant. She was making her way along to Montreux when a man darted out of a bevy, walked a moment near the empress and then stabbed her through the body with a stiletto.

She fell in a trickle of her blood. The man ran and for the time made his escape. They carried her aboard the boat, and there she died within half an hour, thrust through a vital spot with the dagger, which had been fashioned from a small file. Within a few hours an Italian anarchist, Luigi Luceni, had been captured and confessed his crime.

Own Life Thrice Menaced.

Thrice was the life of the emperor himself attempted. In 1853 at a review in Vienna a Hungarian named Joseph Libenyi tried to cut the emperor's throat before all his troops. Francis Joseph suffered a slight wound. The man was caught on the spot. On the next day he was hanged.

In 1866 when the emperor was leaving a theater at Prague a man in the crowd tried to kill him with a pistol. Rescue came from an odd source. A British steamship engineer who chanced to be in Prague and near by subdued the assassin.

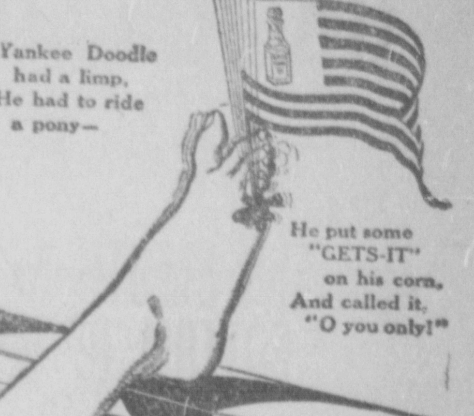

Trieste was the scene of the third attempt in 1882. Bombs were placed, but failed to do their work. The chief conspirator, Overdank, was executed.

The venerable monarch bore many titles. The "sorrowful emperor" was one, justified by the three appalling tragedies of brother, son and wife—the brother shot in Mexico, the son slain in the mysterious tragedy of Meyerling and the wife butchered by an assassin in the year of his golden jubilee. The "reform emperor" they called him when in 1867 the idea of a centralized Austrian empire gave way to that of a dual Austro-Hungarian monarchy, consisting of an indissoluble federation of two equal states under a single sovereign, each having a constitution, government and representative parliament of its own.

The "peace monarch" he was called in reference to the function of his realm as the balance wheel of the European diplomatic machine, until the present war.

Servians Use Assassination as Means to Effect Purpose of Government

By Dr. CHARLES WINTER, Acting Consul General of Austria-Hungary in New York

IN Servia assassination for political reasons is more or less used as a political means of effecting the government's purpose. The WHOLE CIVILIZED WORLD WAS SCANDALIZED at the time of the assassination of King Alexander and his wife, Queen Draga.

***

WAS IT AN ANARCHIST WHO COMMITTED THAT TERRIBLE DEED?

NO. THEY WERE OFFICERS OF THE SERBIAN ARMY. AND HAVE

THEY EVER BEEN PUNISHED? NO. THEY NEVER HAVE BEEN CALLED

TO ACCOUNT FOR THEIR CRIME, AND THEY ARE STILL HOLDING

HIGH POSITIONS IN THE SERBIAN ARMY. THERE EXISTS A STRONG

CURRENT OF OPINION THAT AUSTRIA-HUNGARY SHOULD LEAVE IT

TO THE SERBIAN GOVERNMENT TO PUNISH THE INSTIGATORS OF

THE MURDER OF THE ARCHDUKE FRANCIS FERDINAND AND HIS

CONSORT. DOES IT NOT SOUND LIKE IRONY?

***

Was perhaps the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga the only political murder in the modern history of Servia? No. In the year 1868 the Servian Prince Michael was also the victim of political and not an anarchistic plot. And King Milan died a natural death only because he fled in time to Austrian territory.

WITH AN ENEMY THAT HAS SUCH A STANDARD OF POLITICAL

MORALS ONLY THE SWORD CAN SPEAK THE RIGHT LANGUAGE.

A Red Spider Gone Wrong.

The chigger is really an embryo that never got out of the chrysalis stage. He started out to be a red spider and stopped at becoming a pest. His papa and mamma are red spiders, about the size of a pinhead and bright red. They inhabit old stumps and logs in the woods and feed on vegetable diet. But their offspring are divided into two classes—the bloodthirsty and the non-bloodthirsty. Kaiser Announces Annexation of Belgium as a German Province.
Japanese Squadron Expected in the London, Aug. 27.—French, British and Belgian troops rallied to strike decisive blows against the kaiser's armies. The main French attack was at Luneville, France, where the Germans were entrenched. French and British troops joined in the assault on the German advance lines at Mabeuge. Belgium's army, rallying from Antwerp, with King Albert at its head, defeated 60,000 Germans at Falvordre, where the kaiser's troops had retreated when driven out of Mabeuge.

The French war office has issued a statement saying that the allies' lines in the north have been moved back a short distance and that in a general way the French and British offensive between Nancy and the Vosges is making progress. The French right has, however, been obliged to withdraw slightly in the neighborhood of St. Die.

St. Die is in the department of the Vosges, northeast of Epinal, one of the great French frontier fortresses. This region is the farthest from Paris of any of the five lines of concentric advance proclaimed by the Germans, and hence a check there is not deemed by the allies as of equal importance with a defeat in the north, where the distance between the frontier and the capital is shortest.

Russian troops advanced rapidly toward Posen, German Poland, in carrying out the czar's scheme of seizing all Polish territory preparatory to uniting all Poland under his flag. At the extreme southern Franco-

German border French troops defeated a large force of Germans which attempted to invade France to turn their right flank.

The war press bureau gave out the following statement: "It is officially announced that the French, on their southern frontier, were attacked in force by the Germans. The attack was repulsed and the enemy retired all along the line."

Germany Annexes Belgium.

Russian troops are reported to have occupied Marienburg, in East Prussia, twenty-seven miles southeast of Danzig.

Germany annexed Belgium as a German province and appointed military and civil governors.

Official reports made public in Vienna state that a three days' battle at Krasnik, Russian Poland, ended in a complete Austrian victory. The Russians were repulsed along the entire front of forty-two miles and are now in full flight.

Prince Frederic of Saxe-Meiningen, a lieutenant general in the German army, was killed by a shell before Namur, it is officially announced.

It is intimated here that Japan's answer to the Austrian declaration of war will be to dispatch a Japanese squadron to the Adriatic, which would permit the assembling of the warships of the allies in all quarters of the globe.

All Americans have been advised by the American embassy to leave Italy. "Americans remain at their own risk," the warning says.

The next attack in the Belgian theater of war is expected between Huges and Blankenburg, where there have already been skirmishes with the outposts. Communication with Antwerp has been re-established. The country southwest of Antwerp has, as far as can be ascertained by the civil authorities, been cleared of the enemy.

The Russian advance in East Prussia has become so formidable as to cause alarm in Berlin, where measures to arrest the forward movement are being taken. The German forces have been obliged to retreat until only the Osterode line of lakes remains between them and the river Vistula.

Reports by way of Copenhagen from Cologne say that the engagement fought in Lorraine was contested by armies estimated at 300,000 men on each side.

RUSSIANS ADVANCING

Paris, Aug. 27.—Official telegrams from St. Petersburg relate that the Austrian rear guard tried to hold the Russians around Teropol and along the Seltch river without success. The Austrians lost two mitralluses, one railroad train and much war material.

The Russians are driving the German first army corps toward Danzig. The Russian advance is said to be at Marienburg, twenty-six miles from Danzig. In eastern Galicia the Russians appear to have driven back the Austrian troops at several points. A military authority at St. Petersburg is quoted as saying that Russia will have 3,000,000 men in Germany and 2,000,000 men in Austria within fifteen days.

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS

Paris, Aug. 27.—The French ministry, headed by Premier Rene Viviani, resigned. Another cabinet was immediately formed.

Viviani visited Elysee palace and informed President Poincare that the members of the cabinet had decided to resign collectively. He said that he and his colleagues had come to the decision that in the circumstance through which the country was passing the ministry should have a wider scope and comprise all the men in all the Republican groups. President Poincare charged Viviani with the task of organizing a new cabinet and the premier accepted. He returned to the Elysee about an hour later and made known to the president the composition of the new ministry. Viviani remains president of the council and Theophile Delcasse is retained as minister of foreign affairs.

The advancement of younger generals to high commands is now certain.

ACCIDENTS ON THE WATER.

How a Pot or Pan or Even a Hat May Be Used as a Life Preserver.

The worst thing to do in an accident on the water is to flounder around and shriek and cry. That expels the air from the lungs, and then the body will quickly sink. With this fact understood we may experiment with a number of things to show how little it takes to support the body. The high silk hat of man contains sufficient air to keep him from sinking if he grasps it by the rim and holds it upright so that the air is imprisoned under the hat. Even a derby hat will support a half grown boy or girl if held right.

Disbans and buckets or tin pails can also be used as life preservers. Invert these in the water and grasp the rim with both hands and do not tip them so the air can escape. Not long ago a party of girls out rowing had their boat upset in a mountain lake. All of them except one could swim. This girl had an umbrella with her, raised to ward off the sun's rays when the accident occurred. Finding herself in the water some distance from the boat, she grabbed for the nearest thing in reach. It proved to be her umbrella, floating with the handle down in the water. She threw both arms frantically around the open umbrella. To her surprise and to that of her comrades, she did not sink. The imprisoned air under the umbrella supported her head above the water until help arrived.

The small amount of air contained in a bicycle tire will keep one's head above water for hours. Even if one is a fair swimmer, the day may come when a knowledge of some of these every day life preservers will prove of the greatest value. If thrown in the water a long distance from shore you may be able to float and swim with such an aid three times as far as you could without them.—George E. Walsh in Leslie's.

Her Seven Sons.

A mother who had only one child, a son, lost him through an accident by drowning when he was seventeen. His body was washed out to sea and never recovered. She very much wanted a portrait of him, and she called a famous artist who was a friend of the family. He asked for every photograph she had of her son from babyhood onward. When the painting arrived it represented a glade in a wood. Playing about were five little children of various ages, but all the same boy as his mother had known him. Coming down the center, joyous, gay, was the seventeen-year-old lad leading his baby self of one year by the hand. The mother looked at the picture and burst into tears. "I have lost seven sons!" she said.

"You had lost six of them before your son died," the artist replied.

Law Lord in a Cell.

Lord Russell once gave a lecture on his imprisonment in Holloway jail. The thing that impressed him most strangely during the early period of his confinement was being without his pipe and watch. He was perpetually feeling in his pocket to see the time or for matches or tobacco. He soon got over the want of smoking and after six weeks obtained leave to wear his watch, the absence of which worried him more than having no tobacco pouch. When he went into prison the governor asked his religion, and he replied, "Agnostic." This answer seemed to puzzle the official, who said he supposed it was Protestant, not Catholic. And as "Prot." Lord Russell was entered on the card outside his cell.

BOOSTED PRICES

Washington, Aug. 27.—Officials of the department of justice said that in all likelihood action would be begun against certain big beet sugar interests in a few days, charging them with conspiring to fix the price of sugar at abnormally high levels. It is the intention of the department that this action shall deal only with alleged price manipulation in one state in the middle west. Announcement was also made at the department that the United States district attorney for the northern district of New York had reported progress in the investigation there and that a grand jury inquiry probably would be sought.

HORSE RACING IS THE

'Twixt flag and wire the race will be won. This will be the rule in speed events at Ohio State Fair, the coming week.

The track is the most picturesque turf ring in America. A round sum of money has been spent in 1914 to make it the Sportsman's Delight.

Colonel Walker of Dayton, Ohio, will be starting judge. His experience and success in grand circuit events insure class to his work. Seventeen events in five days will make blood run quicker. The Governor's Cup will be one of the trophies of battle, and the Billing's Cup another.

The Ohio State Fair Grounds will be a Cross-Roads for Kings of the sport. It costs more, but it is worth more, to live today than ever before.

TOWNS TAKEN AND RETAKEN

Paris, Aug. 27.—The fierce nature of the fighting on the Franco-Belgian frontier may be estimated by the fact that Charleroi was taken and retaken seven times. Luneville, near the Alsatian border, has been retaken for the third time, and it is believed that it is again in the hands of the French.

CANADA TO RUSH TROOPS

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 27.—The first complement of Canadian volunteers to go to the front will be sent to Europe in twenty transports with all possible speed. Official announcement to this effect was made by the militia department. The Princess Patricia Light infantry expects to sail Saturday.

We Do It on the Fourth.

It is curious that the Fourth of July has become the American day of celebration, since it was on July 2 that congress passed the really important motion for independence, and the Fourth only saw the adoption of the Declaration. John Adams wrote to his wife: "The 2d day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other from this time forward for evermore." But they do it on the Fourth.—London Chronicle.

Fighting Men

It takes intelligent men to make the best soldiers. The rank and file of the troops must be men of good brain as well as the commanders if an army is of the highest efficiency. High culture is not required, but real brain power must be there. An ignorant man is likely to be a cowardly one. There was formerly a prevailing opinion that physical prowess and mental power were two forces that were entirely distinct. That may be true where only a certain amount of pure brute force is required, like lifting a barrel of sugar or striking a heavy predetermined blow. But when you place men face to face in a contest where brain is against brain and bodily strength against bodily strength, the victory is likely to incline to the preponderance of brain.

Relative intelligence distinguishes man from beasts, and has given him dominion over them. We have seen men on the football field who could lift almost incredible weight and were fairly agile, who failed simply because they lacked sufficient concentration to coordinate their efforts with the team play at the crucial moment. In the great national sport of baseball, how many men fail from lack of sagacity, rather than from insufficient strength and agility. We heard it said of a pitcher once that he had a ten thousand dollar arm and a five cent head. It takes quick thinking in baseball, and the man who hasn't a good think tank cannot go very far in the game. He must not only be able to know what play to make in every crisis without hesitation, but he must be deep enough judge of human nature to place him in sympathy with every one of his team associates.

How much more is quickness of intellect necessary in the common soldier. There the game is played for life or death. How much opportunity for quick wit in the charge, the retreat, the cover, the hand to hand fight. Brawn and weapons being equal, superior brains in the common soldier will be almost uniformly victorious. The phalanx of Alexander the Great derived its chief strength from the intelligence in the ranks. No better soldiers ever took up arms than those of both North and South in our own Civil war. Some of the ablest men of our country were carrying muskets.

The success thus far of the Germans is perhaps due in large measure to the fact that her ranks are filled with her very best middle class citizens.

Servians Use Assassination as Means to Effect Purpose of Government

By Dr. CHARLES WINTER, Acting Consul General of Austria-Hungary in New York

IN Servia assassination for political reasons is more or less used as a political means of effecting the government's purpose. The WHOLE CIVILIZED WORLD WAS SCANDALIZED at the time of the assassination of King Alexander and his wife, Queen Draga.

WAS IT AN ANARCHIST WHO COMMITTED THAT TERRIBLE DEED? NO. THEY WERE OFFICERS OF THE SERBIAN ARMY. AND HAVE THEY EVER BEEN PUNISHED? NO. THEY NEVER HAVE BEEN CALLED TO ACCOUNT FOR THEIR CRIME, AND THEY ARE STILL HOLDING HIGH POSITIONS IN THE SERBIAN ARMY. THERE EXISTS A STRONG CURRENT OF OPINION THAT AUSTRIA-HUNGARY SHOULD LEAVE IT TO THE SERBIAN GOVERNMENT TO PUNISH THE INSTIGATORS OF THE MURDER OF THE ARCHDUKE FRANCIS FERDINAND AND HIS CONSORT. DOES IT NOT SOUND LIKE IRONY?

Was perhaps the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga the only political murder in the modern history of Servia? No. In the year 1868 the Serbian Prince Michael was also the victim of political and not anarchistic plot. And King Milan died a natural death only because he fled in time to Austrian territory.

WITH AN ENEMY THAT HAS SUCH A STANDARD OF POLITICAL MORALS ONLY THE SWORD CAN SPEAK THE RIGHT LANGUAGE.

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN; ITS YOU.

If you want to live in the kind of a town

Like the kind of a town you like,

You needn't slip your clothes in a grip

And start on a long, long hike.

You'll find what you want left behind,

For there's nothing that's really new

It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town,

It isn't your town—it's you!

Real towns are not made by men

afraid

Lest somebody else gets ahead,

When every one works and nobody shirks

You can raise a town from the dead.

And if while you make your personal stake,

Your neighbor can make one too,

Your town will be what you want to see,

It isn't your town—it's you.

Music of Our Indians.

The music of our Indians is solely and simply vocal. It seems to be generally agreed by musical authorities that the Indians' songs have in them nothing borrowed from instruments, nothing of artificial instigation. An Indian melody never served two sets of words. There is no instance, it appears, where the people have followed our custom of singing the different stanzas of a ballad to the same air. A large proportion of Indian songs are entirely without words at all, syllables being employed to carry the tones. Perhaps the most striking peculiarity of Indian music is the lack of definite pitch, for there is no such thing as standard pitch among the musicians of the red men. The Indian begins his song where the natural quality of his voice and his mood at the time render it easiest for him to sing it. The pitch of the song depends upon the individual.—Philadelphia Record.

Old Nick and Nickel.

Nickel was first discovered by Cronstedt in 1751. No use was made of it, as it was found only in small amounts. For a great many years the German miners called it kupfernickel, or devil's copper. It was believed by those simple folk that Old Nick, or the devil, made this ore purposely to bother the miners, as it looked exactly like copper ore and yet no copper could be extracted from it. Nickel was scarce until a New York assayer found a quantity of it in a shipment of ore from Canada. He stated its value in his report, and the owner of the mine prospected for more and found large quantities of it. Nickel is hard, ductile and malleable. It is white in color, with a yellowish cast. It ranks next to iron and cobalt in magnetic properties and is extensively used for plating purposes, because it will take a high polish and will not rust. Nickel added to steel makes it harder and stronger.—New York World.

FRANCIS JOSEPH

FIGURE AMONG

Aged Monarch Harried by Grim Misfortune From His Boyhood.

IT has fallen to the lot of few men to bear such a series of misfortunes as those that came to Francis Joseph (Charles) I., emperor of Austria, whose eighty-fourth birthday occurred Aug. 18. The reign of the oldest monarch in the world was one of woe and disaster. His most recent and most personal grief was caused by Gavrio Princip, the Servian anarchist, whose bullets ended the life of the heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenburg. But before this happened he had earned the title of the Sorrowful Emperor.

Waiving the question of right or wrong in declaring war on Servia, as the direct result of the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, the fact stands out that it was this act which plunged all of Europe into a bloody conflict, a conflict aptly described by the British government in its call for men to enlist under the Union Jack as the greatest war in the history of the world.

From the day when as a boy of eighteen he was ordered by the family council to dethrone his uncle, since otherwise all hope for the house of Hapsburg was lost, Francis Joseph never knew a happy day. He has remained upon the throne of his country for over sixty-six years, the saddest monarch of his age.

Curse Over Family.

A curse, uttered with all the hatred and vindictiveness of a woman whose heart was torn with grief, hangs over the house of Hapsburg. Since this curse upon the emperor and his family was made in 1848 by the Countess Karolyi, the house of Hapsburg has known more grief than any other royal family of Europe.

Following the execution of her son for his activity in the Hungarian uprising, Countess Karolyi sought an audience with the emperor. Once in his presence she denounced him in the most scathing terms; she prayed that his life be stripped of happiness, that misery and suffering come to those dearest to him, and that he be crushed to the earth in despair. The woman left his presence with the declaration that her prayers would be answered and the death of her son avenged.

A political cataclysm set Francis Joseph on his throne as a boy and loaded him with responsibilities and griefs such as only the strong can bear.

Francis Joseph had hardly reached the throne when he was forced to lead his soldiers against his own people in the quelling of a bloody revolution. These events had hardly passed well into recollection when his natural ally made war on him, reduced him to humiliating peace and took a slice of his provinces.

Brother Executed in Mexico.

Francis Joseph was duped into permitting his brother to become the tool of Napoleon III. in a wild scheme to establish a Franco-Austrian monarchy in Mexico. The unhappy Empress Carlotta went insane begging Napoleon to aid her defeated husband, and Maximilian himself was shot to death with his generals, making a final plea that they shoot low, so his mother might look upon his dead face unmurdered.

Francis Joseph's Italian provinces revolted and joined the Italian kingdom. Every few years there have been fresh outbreaks in his own country. Time and again European war threatened to engulf him and his kingdom, and he faced the possibility that his death would mean the dissolution of his remnant of the great German-Roman empire, which one day ruled the world.

But to all these public disasters was added a list of private or personal griefs such as few men—high or low—have ever been made to bear.

Perhaps the greatest of these tragedies and the one that bore most heavily on the old monarch, was the mysterious death of his only son, the Crown Prince Rudolf, at Meyerling. Rudolf was twenty-three years old when he married in 1881 Princess Stephanie, daughter of the king of the Belgians. The princess was sixteen. The crown prince married her for state reasons, and they became known as "the most unhappy royal couple in Europe."

The crown prince was invited to a reception at the home of a cousin, the Countess Larisch. That was in the fall of 1887. There the countess introduced him to a beautiful young woman, the Baroness Vetsera, nineteen years old.

The crown prince lost his head and heart. He went to his father, the emperor, and announced that he intended to divorce Stephanie and marry the young baroness, offering to renounce all claims to the throne. The emperor forbade it. Rudolf applied to the pope for permission to annul his marriage to Stephanie, but again was rebuffed.

Several months later, through the pleadings of his family, the crown prince agreed to be reconciled to Stephanie, and a state reception was planned in honor of their reunion.

The Baroness Vetsera heard of this on the morning of the day for which

THE SADDEST EUROPE'S RULERS

"Unhappy Lies the Head That Wears a Crown" True In His Case.

A Fatal Farewell.

Rudolph's love for the baroness was revived, and he agreed to meet her that night in a hunting chateau near by for a last farewell. When the royal family and guests assembled for the state dinner the crown prince could not be found. After a wait of several hours word came that the bodies of Rudolph and the Baroness Vetsera had been found in a room in the chateau.

For many years the affair was shrouded in mystery. Only recently Countess Larisch tore away the veil in her book entitled "My Past." Her conclusion was that the lovers agreed to die together, Rudolph slaying the baroness and then himself.

The widowed Stephanie fell in love with and married Count Elmer Lonyay, a young nobleman. The crown princess lost her royal rank in Austria and her native country through the marriage.

Next in order the Archduke Johann Salvatore fell in love with Milli Stubel, a Viennese dancer, and was refused the right to marry her.

Finally, after a stormy interview with the emperor, the archduke wrote a terrific brochure against the Austrian army, resigned all his rank, took the name of John Orth and departed from Austria. In February, 1890, he met Milli Stubel in London, where they were married. They set sail on the ship St. Margarita for South America. The vessel was wrecked, and nothing authoritative has been heard of Salvatore since.

Every few years stories have cropped out purporting to reveal the whereabouts of the lost archduke.

Tragic Death of Wife.

As deep and long lived a grief as any borne by the emperor of sorrows came through his wife. At the outset it was a love match, and for many years the emperor and his consort were ideally happy. The private lives of both always were above reproach. But as years crept upon her the Empress Elizabeth began to show the eccentricities that have beset all her line.

Austria and its emperor became distasteful to her; there were long absences, domestic scenes and gossip. Finally Elizabeth decided to make her own home and court. At an expense of $600,000 she built on the beautiful island of Corfu, in the Mediterranean, the remarkable castle of Achilleion. Beyond this sum she spent on the grounds and furnishings as much more.

The empress spent her winters, her autumns and springs at Corfu. The rest of her time she traveled. She had come from Corfu only a short time, and one day was walking in the sun on the quay at Geneva with an attendant. She was making her way along to a little boat that was to carry her to Montreux when a man darted out of a bevy, walked a moment near the empress and then stabbed her through the body with a stiletto.

She fell in a trickle of her blood. The man ran and for the time made his escape. They carried her aboard the boat, and there she died within half an hour, thrust through a vital spot with the dagger, which had been fashioned from a small file. Within a few hours an Italian anarchist, Luigi Luceni, had been captured and confessed his crime.

Own Life Thrice Menaced.

Thrice was the life of the emperor himself attempted. In 1853 at a review in Vienna a Hungarian named Joseph Libenyi tried to cut the emperor's throat before all his troops. Francis Joseph suffered a slight wound. The man was caught on the spot. On the next day he was hanged.

In 1896 when the emperor was leaving a theater at Prague a man in the crowd tried to kill him with a pistol. Rescue came from an odd source. A British steamship engineer who chanced to be in Prague and near by subdued the assassin.

Trieste was the scene of the third attempt in 1892. Bombs were placed, but failed to do their work. The chief conspirator, Overdank, was executed.

The venerable monarch bore many titles. The "sorrowful emperor" was one, justified by the three appalling tragedies of brother, son and wife—the brother shot in Mexico, the son slain in the mysterious tragedy of Meyerling and the wife butchered by an assassin in the year of his golden jubilee. The "reform emperor" they called him when in 1867 the idea of a centralized Austrian empire gave way to that of a dual Austro-Hungarian monarchy, consisting of an indissoluble federation of two equal states under a single sovereign, each having a constitution, government and representative parliament of its own.

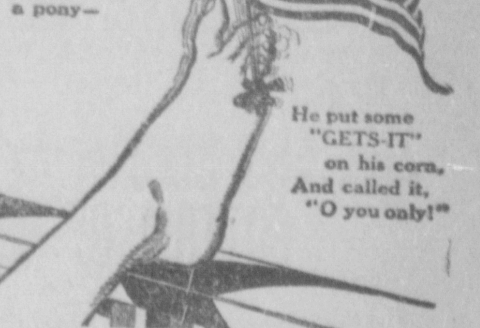

The "peace monarch" he was called in reference to the function of his realm as the balance wheel of the European diplomatic machine, until the present war.

"Gets-It" for Corns Sure as Sunrise

New Plan. Corns Shriveled, Vanish.

Until "GETS-IT" was born nobody was ever sure of getting rid of a corn. Corn treatments nearly all contained the same ingredients, only some were liquid, some plasters, some

Yankee Doodle had a limp, He had to ride a pony—

He put some "GETS-IT" on his corn. And called it, "O you only!"

"wrappers" and some in salve form. Now comes "GETS-IT" with a newly discovered formula—the corn cure on a new principle and a simple plan that never fails. This is why "GETS-IT" has grown in three years to be the biggest-selling corn cure the world has ever known.

There's no more need of fussing with corns, no more digging or cutting. There's nothing to inflame the flesh, to "pull" the corn or cause pain. Put two drops of "GETS-IT" on in two seconds. That's all. For any corn, callus, wart or bunion. "GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

"GETS-IT" is sold in Washington C. H. by Brown's Drug Store.

ANOTHER RAID MADE ON ALLEGED 'LEGGERS'

Five Arrests Take Place and More Expected to Follow Within a Short Time.

AMATEUR SLEUTH AT BOTTOM OF WORK

List of Arrests Includes Several Well Known Colored Men—"Keeping a Place" May be Among Other Charges Reposing in Pigeon Holes in Mayor's Desk—Trials Come Up Within Few Days.

Mayor Coffey and Chief Moore sprung another sensation, Wednesday evening and Thursday morning, when a number of arrests of alleged bootleggers took place, and more arrests are expected to follow at any time. Meanwhile quite a few persons are said to be trembling in their shoes, fearing that the "lightning" may strike in their direction at any moment.

Those arrested up to Thursday noon are: George Scott, colored; Tobias Peoples, colored; Charles Bryant, colored; Joe Barker, white; Joe Tapsico, colored. Other affidavits are known to be stored away in pigeon holes in Mayor Coffey's desk, and may be brought into use at any time.

The arrests are the result of ten days or two weeks clever work on the part of L. R. Rowe, a local man, who claims to have found it easy work to obtain a surprisingly large amount of bootleg whiskey from some of the parties who have been arrested, and against others who have not yet been apprehended.

Barker, Bryant, Scott and Peoples were arrested Wednesday evening, and Tapsico was apprehended Thursday morning.

When arraigned before Mayor Coffey each of the accused entered a plea of not guilty, and their trials will take place within the next few days. All, with the exception of Scott raised the $200 bond, and were released, while Scott was remanded to jail to await such a time as he could obtain the bond, or stand trial.

It is claimed that one man, obtaining a hint of what was about to take place, fled from the city, and has not returned. The police have made arrangements to apprehend the man and bring him back to face the music.

The main part of the "evidence" against those arrested is under lock and key at the Mayor's office, with each bottle labeled as to who sold it, when, and the amount paid.

The "evidence" is not confined to a half dozen bottles, nor to a dozen bottles, and it is claimed that several affidavits may be filed against some of the parties, in which "keeping a place" will be charged. If this is done, and conviction results, the property in which the sales were made becomes liable for the heavy duty tax.

Chief Moore states that before the cases are finished a few surprises may come to light. It is the opinion of the police that some of the charges will not be fought, owing to the fact that several similar charges may be placed against the accused.

According to Rowe, who filed the affidavits, and to Chief Moore, several purchases were made from some of those against whom affidavits have been filed.

Every time a sale was made, one or more of the police was not far distant, watching operations.

DIES ON HER EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Daniel Cook, living one and a half miles north of Bloomingburg, on the Danville pike, died at five o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Cook was one of the oldest residents of the county, and her death occurred on her eightieth birthday. She leaves one son, George Cook.

The funeral will be held Friday at 10 a. m., at the Christian church in New Holland. Burial in the New Holland cemetery.

BUYS FURNITURE ON TIME AND SELLS IT FOR CASH

Local Firm May be Among the List of Victims of Smooth Stranger Who Sells $100 Worth of Furniture for $15, But Is Frightened Away Before Second Deal is Completed.

An investigation is now on foot among C. R. Parish furniture men to establish the identity of a man who is alleged to have been purchasing furniture "on time" and disposing of it for cash at a fraction of the purchase price.

The game was tried in Chillicothe, and it is claimed that a similar game was worked on the local branch of the company, but a hurried investigation has not yet disclosed any attempt at trickery on the part of a customer.

The story is told by The Chillicothe News, of Wednesday, as follows:

"The local C. R. Parish Co. store came very near losing $84.50 worth of its goods on Tuesday, says its manager, through the actions of a customer who, it is said, has now disappeared, and whose actions were queer

ONE WORD MADE A DIFFERENCE

North Street Property Owners Up In Arms Until They Discover That Mistake Was Made and That City Pays One-Third of Improvement Cost—Necessary to Republish Ordinance.

It was only one small word, but it made all the difference in the world with North North street property owners, and has resulted in its becoming necessary to delay action on the North street improvement and a second publication of the resolution to pave the street.

The original resolution provided that one-fiftieth of the cost be borne by the city, and the remainder by the property owners.

When council changed its attitude toward assessing 90 per cent of the cost against the property owner, and amended the resolution so that the city was bound to pay 1-3 of the cost, the "one-third" was overlooked and the resolution was published with the provision that the city pay "one-fiftieth."

When the notices were served on the property owners, and it was found that the notices did not contain the proviso that the city would bear one-third the expense, but "one fiftieth", a storm of protest went up, and some of the property owners immediately concluded that council had "put one over" on them, and an investigation was started, which resulted in the mistake being discovered and provision made to rectify it and republish the resolution so that as little delay as possible result.

to say the least. The customer called at the store on Monday and gave the name of Henry Ross.

"He was waited on by George Reed, the store's manager and picked out a bill of goods amounting to $84.50. He paid $2.50 down and made arrangements to pay $4.00 every two weeks for the rest of the goods. Later a drayman informed Font Bee, a clerk at the Parish store that the man was trying to sell the goods in the East End.

"It was said that he was showing a list of the goods to two East End dealers. Bee found the man and asked him what he was doing. He told him that he was just comparing the prices to see whether or not he had been beat. Bee immediately took possession of the firm's goods and the man left for parts unknown.

"Reed stated that Ross had had some furniture shipped in over the C. H. & D. and that the name on the shipping tag was 'T. Taulkner.' He is alleged to have sold $100 worth of these goods for $15. Reed will investigate this matter with the Washington C. H. Parish store as he said the goods looked as if they came from there.

"The man had ordered the $84.50 worth of goods purchased on Monday to be sent to a house on North Sugar street that he had rented that day. Later he is alleged to have told East End dealers that his reason for wanting to sell the furniture was because his wife had deserted him.

"He told them that when he arrived at his newly-rented home his wife had departed taking $80 belonging to him with her and nothing was there but the furniture. It is now claimed that there was no woman with the man."

MRS. FLETCHER DIES SUDDENLY

Mother of Triplets Passes Away While Asleep at Home on Mayor Coffey's Farm—Death was Due to Heart Trouble—Funeral Saturday.

News of the death of Mrs. S. M. Fletcher, mother of the triplets, reached this city at an early hour Thursday morning, and came as a great shock and sorrow to the many relatives and friends of the deceased.

Mrs. Fletcher died suddenly, and while asleep. Her death was discovered about one o'clock Thursday morning, and she had retired two hours previous to that time, apparently in her usual health.

During Wednesday evening, Mrs. Fletcher had laughed and joked with other members of the family and friends who were visiting at the

Fletcher home, and retired at eleven o'clock.

At one o'clock, Mr. Fletcher awoke, and not hearing his wife breathing, sought to ascertain if she was ill. She did not arouse when he tried to awake her, and a moment later he discovered that his wife was dead, and had apparently been dead for more than one hour. He immediately aroused those at the Fletcher home, and a physician was summoned. Death was evidently due to heart trouble.

Since the birth of the two daughters and son, on June 6th, Mrs. Fletcher has been ill, and spent several days in the Fayette hospital, where she received special treatment. She left the hospital a week or ten days ago, and since that time had apparently been improved.

Funeral services will be held at the Cemetery chapel, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, and burial will be made in the Washington cemetery.

Besides the sorrowing husband, and the three infants, Mrs. Fletcher leaves a 10-year-old son, and many other relatives.

MRS. FRANK SMITH DIES IN KENTON

Washington friends have learned with regret that Mrs. Frank Smith failed to rally after a serious operation at the Antonio hospital, Kenton, O., and died Tuesday evening.

Mr. Smith accompanied by Undertaker McCoy, brought his wife's remains home Wednesday evening on the 6 o'clock train, and took them to the residence on E. Paint street.

Relatives from Wilmington were here to meet the train last night.

A short service was held at the residence at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the remains taken to the home of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Cartwright in Wilmington on the 3:30 train.

The funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Cartwright Friday afternoon and the interment will be made in the Wilmington cemetery.

ATHLETICS TO MEET THEIR MATCH SUNDAY

Dayton Maxwells, Victors Over the Tippecanoe City club, Which Scored a Victory Here Sunday—One of the Fastest Semi-Professional Teams in the State.

In what is generally doped to be the best game of the year the Athletics Sunday will contest for honors with the Dayton Maxwells, the record of whom is familiar to many local fans. The Maxwells are recognized as one of the fastest semi-pro teams in Ohio and their victory over the Tippecanoe City bunch, which defeated Washington, is some testimonial of their speed.

In a letter to Manager Noon the manager of the Maxwells, Mr. William Myers, says: 'Our team has been going great the past few weeks and we expect to return from Washington winners. We are leading the Saturday Afternoon league here with a standing of .750, which you can see by any of the Dayton papers. Five of our present players have played professional ball and the balance are fast semi-pro players.'

Mr. Myers speaks effusively of his star pitcher, Smith, who will be used in the box here. Smith pitched against Newcastle, Ind., last week to a 2 to 0 victory. Manager Myers contends that the Newcastle team had loaded up with Indianapolis Federal leaguers at that.

The Dayton line-up follows: Berg, c; Smith, Flanagan, p; Powell, 1b; Gard, 2b; Shrim, ss; Bartel, 3b; O'Hearn, rf; T. Smith, cf; Yumarishro, lf.

Yumarishro, the clever little Jap outfielder, played here before, this season, and the fans know that he, at least, is the goods.

USES MAYOR'S NAME TO THREATENING NOTE

A couple of residents of John street appeared before Mayor Coffey Thursday shortly after noon, and showed him a letter which bore his forged signature.

The letter was to the effect that a fine of $50 and cost would be assessed unless a certain dog was killed.

Mayor Coffey assured the parties that he had never written such a letter, and he is now at work in an effort to ferret out the party who forged his signature to the letter.

THREE GOOD REASONS.

The question arises, why is the success of Billy S. Clifford in the clever musical satire 'Believe Me.' Several good reasons might be given, in fact myriad numbers of them, but the consideration of a few of the most essential will do here. First—Care has been exercised to get a bill that will make an instantaneous impression upon the people before whom it is presented. There is nothing at all in the bill of 'Believe Me' lacking to make it complete in every detail. The story is pretty, carefully worked out, the climaxes are right to the point and cleverly worked up to. The comedy well defined and pure, the song numbers are up to the minute. Second—Choice of a lead was carefully considered and no better one could be secured than Billy S. Clifford, who handles the title role. Clever to the extreme as a comedian. Third—in selecting a supporting company to a most capable lead, only the very best talent possible was to be secured and one only needs to see the show to realize that such is the case. Each member back of Mr. Clifford has been especially selected for some one peculiar qualification necessary, when combined with the balance of the company, to make one complete whole strong in the presentation of the production. Here are three good reasons why this company is having such unprecedented success in their latest creation. They will be seen at The Empire on Tuesday, September 1.

Final Draft Receives Unanimous Approval.

PROHIBITION PROVED PROBLEM

Minority Report, Threatened by the Dries, Not Presented to the Convention—Several Planks Strongly Declaratory on National and State Issues—Woman Suffrage Not Passed Upon—Other Features.

Columbus, Aug. 27.—With the approval of the final draft of the state platform, the Republican state convention finished its business in short order. Strongly declaratory on national issues, and on state issues with the exception of woman suffrage, which it ignored, and prohibition, the platform's adoption was not opposed by a single voice in the convention. A minority report on the temperance plank which the dries had threatened to make was not presented. Formal approval of the temperance plank was given by the dual heads of the ticket, Warren G. Harding, nominee for United States senator, and Frank B. Willis, nominee for governor.

Speaking for the management of the Anti-Saloon league, Wayne B. Wheeler said the law enforcement declaration of the temperance plank was satisfactory. The platform in full follows:

Stand For Protection.
We, the Republican party of Ohio, in convention assembled, hereby promulgate the following platform:

We reaffirm our adherence to the great principles of the Republicanism which has made the history of the party glorious for more than half a century. We rejoice in the great achievements of our party, which have brought progress and prosperity to our people.

Following step by step the changed conditions of the years, the Republican party goes forward with renewed faith in the people, firm in its purpose to serve them today with the same sincerity and fidelity that marked the noble work of Abraham Lincoln.

On behalf of the Republicans of Ohio this convention extends to the president of the United States sincere sympathy on account of the sorrow and bereavement which have recently fallen upon his household.

We affirm our adherence to the principle of protection to American industries; for the investment of American capital, and in the employment of American labor at the American standard of wages.

We denounce the Underwood tariff act as a law in the interest of the foreign rather than the American producer. We denounce the legislation which has turned the balance of trade against us and is draining our country of its gold.

The fallacy of the Democratic claim that protection is the cause of the high cost of living is shown by the failure of the Underwood act to reduce it.

We favor such legislation by the national congress as will provide an adequate merchant marine for the extension of our trade to all parts of the world in times of peace, and will enable us, in times of war, to receive ample transportation of products of neutral countries, especially those of the western continent.

The Republican party, recognizing the debt the country owes to the volunteer soldiers, declares its opposition to the present policy of the national administration to drop from the government service the veterans of the Civil war.

We urge congress to make liberal and regular appropriations to complete the improvement of the Ohio river.

Attack State Administration.

The Republicans of Ohio condemn the present state executive for his assumption of autocratic powers; for his usurpation of the legislative functions; for having used his official prerogatives to create a gigantic machine; for his creation of many useless offices and commissions; for his trifling with the civil service. We especially denounce his administration for its dangerous concentration of power in the hands of the governor and for its unprecedented extravagance and the added burdens placed upon local subdivisions. We arraign the so-called Warnes law for its flagrant violation of the principle of local self-government. We condemn the taxation policy of the Cox administration which seeks to increase revenue rather than to curb expenditures. We denounce the so-called Kilpatrick law for its destruction of the wise provisions of the Spanish 1 per cent law.

We do not only favor the workmen's compensation law, which we participated in enacting, but we favor the increase in the maximum amount to be paid for death and total disability under said law.

We denounce the steadily increasing outlay for all public purposes with its corresponding increase in taxation. We pledge the Republican party to discourage unnecessary local expenditures and to restore an economical management of state offices by abolishing all unnecessary offices and commissions.

We favor laws for the moral protection and physical development of our women workers. We endorse the eight-hour system of daily labor wherever practicable. We approve the principle of one day's rest in seven for all labor.

We urge the enactment of laws conferring upon the supreme court jurisdiction to revise the decisions of the secretaries of state on primary, election and initiative and referendum questions.

We favor liberal appropriations to promote agriculture. We pledge the Republican party of Ohio to the appointment of farmers to all offices whose functions relate to the farm.

We recognize the wider claims of the people upon their government for legislation to promote social justice and pledge our co-operation in the broader movement for human welfare.

We demand that our people shall have restored to them their right of local self-government.

Attitude Toward Prohibition.
We call the attention of the electors of Ohio to the pending constitutional amendments, all of which are submitted without party sponsorship through the plan of initiative and referendum provided for in our constitution and ask a verdict in the convictions of Ohio's citizenship without partisan prejudice or political bias.

We pledge the Republican party to the conscientious execution of the will of the majority and to use all the authority provided in the constitution and the statutes for the enforcement of the law. While the traffic in intoxicating liquors subsists in Ohio, we favor its regulation by such laws as are now, or hereafter may be, enacted by the general assembly.

We further propose the decentralization of the licensing authority which, through the present plan of appointment of commissioners by the governor, tends to make a political machine of the saloon. We would place the licensing authority beyond the manipulation of partisan politics.

We pledge ourselves to home rule in the valuation and assessment of all property for taxation; to the selection of county, township and precinct assessors by the people of their respective communities, either by direct election or by appointment by elective county officials, and to enact a just and efficient system of taxation which will insure the full and honest return of property.

We heartily favor the construction and maintenance of a statewide system of good roads, but we demand that the large expenditures for that purpose shall be made by the regularly constituted authorities of each county, and thereby save the great expense of a state highway department.

Debt.

Debt is the one thing which goes contrary to the laws of nature, because you can contract and expand it at the same time. Nothing exceeds like debt. Every one is always in debt to some one else. Every debtor is a creditor, every creditor is a debtor. There being no clearing house of humanity the thing goes on from day to day, getting more complicated. Everybody starts by owing the government his part of the interest on the national debt. As this is increasing all the time, the fatal habit some people have of putting off the day of their birth counts against them. Debt is a poor sleeping companion. He won't stay hitched. If you put him off in a room by himself and draw down the blinds he always breaks loose and interrupts you just when you are beginning to enjoy yourself. If you fail to pay his board and lodging he grows larger and eats more. And what a witless companion he is!—Life.

"Why not?"
"Because it's sure to get you in a hole."—Baltimore American.

ELEVEN DIE

Vessels Collide During Fog and Smoke From Forest Fires.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 27.—Eleven lives were lost when the steel passenger steamship Admiral Sampson of the Pacific Alaska Navigation company was rammed and sunk by the Canadian Pacific passenger steamship Princess Victoria off Point No Point, twenty miles north of Seattle, during a fog and thick smoke from forest fires. The Princess Victoria brought the survivors to Seattle.

The Admiral Sampson sank in four minutes. The Admiral Watson, bound for San Francisco, was near the scene of the accident at the time. Eight of the lost were members of the crew and three were passengers.

The dead among the crew are: Z. S. Moore, captain; L. Cabanas, third cook; W. E. Ricker, first wireless operator; Miss M. Campbell, stewardess; C. Marquette, seaman; A. Sater, watchman; Allen J. Noon, chief engineer; J. B. Williams, mess boy. The passengers lost are: G. W. Bryant, painter, bound for Seward, Alaska; Ezra Byrne; Mrs. Ruby Banbury.

FATAL STABBING

Columbus, Aug. 27.—Joseph Pert, fortythree, was fatally stabbed by George Feuerstein, thirtytwo, a dentist. The tragedy was enacted at Broad and High streets in the midst of throngs of shoppers. Pert had his throat slashed. Patrolman Conley was wounded when he arrested Feuerstein. Police say both Pert and Feuerstein have been inmates of the state hospital for insane and frequently arrested. The cause of the quarrel is not known.

TAKING MEDICINE.

There Are Many Ways of Doing It, but Only One Right Way.

Take a fluid remedy from a medicine glass or from a silver spoon. Chemical action of some liquids upon brass creates a liquid that would be fatal if taken into the stomach. A good rule is never to take medicine from anything made of the coarser metals.

While pouring the medicine from bottle to spoon or cup hold the bottle so that the label is uppermost. This will prevent the medicine pouring over the label and staining it if not obliterated. This precaution, especially in the case of liquids that might be harmful if taken by mistake or in the wrong quantity, is imperative.

Unless directions require you to take medicines full strength, it is better to dilute them half and half with water. Never take doses larger than those specified in the directions. Better that they be smaller.

Under no circumstances take medicine in the dark. The reason is obvious. Read the frequent news of deaths of persons who have taken poisons by mistake.

Be sure never to pour medicine back into the bottle. Never fail to shake the bottle before taking a dose of the contents. If there be any sign of sediment, shake the more.

Unless directed otherwise you would better take all capsules, pills or tablets with a half glass of water.

Never use a liniment near an open flame, for a liniment usually contains some combustible element. Always rub a liniment into the skin until it is nearly dry.

Be sure to brush the teeth after taking medicine, since many medicines contain acids or iron, both of which are injurious to the teeth.

Keep effervescent medicines in a cool place.—New York American.

HUGE CONCERN IS IN HANDS OF THE COURT

Receivers Named For International Steam Pump Company.

New York, Aug. 27.—Receivers were appointed by Judge Mayer of the federal district court for the International Steam Pump company, a $29,000,000 corporation, with several plants and subsidiaries throughout the country. This action was taken by the judge at the request of three creditors of the concern, who brought a friendly suit in equity against the corporation in order to protect its assets from the disastrous effects of possible insolvency proceedings by other creditors.

The receivers named were Philip Coleman and Grayson M. P. Murphy. They were placed under a joint bond of $50,000.

The International Steam Pump company is a New Jersey corporation, but has its headquarters in this city. It was built up to its present size by the late Benjamin Guggenheim.

Had it not been for the depressed condition of the money market due to the war, the corporation might have borrowed enough money to tide it over this critical period.

Outspoken.

Mrs. Smith's four sons made the life of her old colored servant a burden. One day Uncle Andy was busy in the garden hoeing corn and for half an hour Tom, the most mischievous of the quartet, had amused himself throwing clouds of dirt at him. At last Andy threw down his hoe and stamped indignantly down to the house.

"Mis' Ella," he said to the little culprit's mother, "Ah jes has to tell yu dat dat boy Twam am de meane's' chile yu got; an' Ah tells yu fo' yo' face and tells yu behine yo' back!"—New York Post.

SHARP TAX REDUCTION SHOWN IN FIRST REPORTS RECEIVED

Three Counties Report Reductions Which Exceed the Average Increase to Duplicates.

GENERAL REDUCTION IS NOW ON THE WAY

Increase to Duplicates in Three Counties Reporting is 4.5 Per Cent. While the Actual Average Reduction in the Tax Rate is 16.3 Per Cent.

Columbus, O., August 27.—Announcements of tax rates in the first three counties which reported to the Tax Commission disclose that the average reduction in the tax rates in these three counties exceeds the average increase to the duplicate.

These three counties are Pike and Darke complete, and Defiance, from which reports have been received for about half the taxing districts. In Pike county the average reduction in the tax rate is 16.3 per cent; in Darke 15 per cent, and in Defiance 8.1 per cent. The average reduction in all three counties being 13.1 per cent. The increase to the duplicate in all three counties is 4.5 per cent. In many cases the reductions establish low marks for rates.

In Pike county they will levy $14,000 less taxes throughout the county in the new year than they did the present year. There is an average reduction throughout the county in the tax rate of 16 1-3 per cent. In Defiance county the average reduction is 8 1-10 per cent.

In Darke county, the rate in Castine village has been cut from $10.40 to $8.40. The lowest rate ever before enjoyed by the people in this village was $10.40.

In every one of the twenty-two taxing districts reported from Defiance county there is a substantial reduction in the rate. In Tiffin township from $7.60 to $6.40; in Highland and Auglaize joint districts from $7.80 to $6.00, a reduction of 23 per cent; in Highland township, from $7.20 to $6.20.

Here are some reductions made in Pike county: Seal township, from $10.30 to $5.25 per $1,000, a reduction of $5.05; in Marion township, from $10.30 per $1,000 to $6.20, a decrease of $4.10. Other decreases are: Piketon corp., from $16.00 to $14.70; Beaver township from $12.50 to $10.90; in Jackson township, from $12.50 to $7.20, a decrease of $5.30 per thousand; Pee Pee township, from $12.50 to $10.50; Mifflin township, from $13.00 to $9.40; Pebble township, from $13.00 to $10; Perry township from $12.50 to $9.70.

HUGHES TOO YOUNG FATHER AWAY, ALSO

Merrill F. Hughes, of Clarksburg, appeared in the Probate court Wednesday, asking that he be issued a marriage license. He had the bride-to-be with him and also the written consent of his father. The law, however, requires that at least one witness sign the consent, and because of the lack of this, he was forced to return to his home in Clarksburg. He stated that his father is away on a visit and that he did not know when he would return.—Chillicothe Gazette.

Ellanora had been the negro maid at Mrs. Hopson's for several years and left to get married. She moved to another city, and nothing had been seen of her for a couple of years, when one day she called on her former mistress. "And so you have a little son, Ellanora?" said Mrs. Hopson.

"Yes, um," smiled the woman—"a nice little boy."

"And what did you name him?" queried Mrs. Hopson.

"Well, we call him Eggnog," replied the colored woman.

"Eggnog?" said the other. "That's a funny name for a boy."

"Well, yo' see, missus," explained Ellanora, "det cullud woman what lives nex' doah to me named her twins Tom and Jerry, an I didn't want to be outdone by her."—Delmeator.

Life Belts Aren't Cork.

Most people if asked what life belts were composed of would answer, "Cork." But it isn't so nowadays. Cork life belts are nearly as dead as the dodo.

The substance almost always used nowadays is a fibrous stuff called kapok, obtained from a plant that grows in Java. Kapok was used to stuff cushions for many years before the idea was hit on of using its beautifully buoyant qualities for nobler purposes.

The most buoyant material known to be in existence is, however, made of poppy heads. Experimental buoys have been made of this material, but not with very satisfactory results. Poppy heads crush too easily to make a perfect substance.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Confidential Communication.

"Who painted that wonderful old picture?" asked the visitor.

"Let me tell you a secret," replied Mr. Cimrox. "If I had spent my life learning to pronounce the names of all these great artists I'd never have made money enough to buy their pictures."—Washington Star.

Singing Pigeons.

The queer Chinese change pigeons into song birds by fastening whistles to their breasts. The wind of their flight then causes a weird and plaintive music that is seldom silenced in the pigeon haunted cities of Peking and Canton.

Defining a Musician.

"Pa, what is an accomplished musician?"

"One who sings songs that nobody can understand."—Detroit Free Press.

Attar of Roses.

Persian attar of roses is quite different from the Bulgarian product. The roses of the Persian district of Fars have been famous for many centuries.

All Settled.

Howard—I hear your daughter is going to marry an English nobleman. Is it all settled? Coward—Yes; every cent she had.
